GERMAN ARMY SWEEPING VICTORIOUSLY WESTWARD.

Great Battle Must Determine Whether It Will Be Stopped in Belgium.

Lull in Struggle in East Prussia, Following Fights Without Decided Advantage.

The German army which successfully besieged Antwerp has swept victoriously westward along the Belgian coast until now, with its right resting on Ostend, it forms the extreme right of the German line, stretching from the North sea to the Swiss frontier.

A great battle to determine whether the advancing German hosts will be stopped in western Belgium or pushed on into France, seizing Dunkirk and Calais on the Strait of Dover, must come soon and quite probably is being fought today. Official intelligence is markedly meagre today, as is invariably the case when the belligerents are particularly active.

The French official statement this afternoon says the German troops occupying western Belgium have not crossed the line running from Ostend south to Menin. The allied troops have occupied Fleurbaix and the immediate approaches to Armentieres, it is announced, while further gains in the region of Arras and the vicinity of St. Mihiel are claimed.

Berlin announces that a gigantic battle is preparing in the eastern theatre, where the Austro-German forces have taken positions along the Vistula and San rivers.

Vienna states that fighting continued Thursday along the entire battle front from Stry and Sambor, both to the southeast of Przemysl, to the mouth of the San.

The most recent advices from Petrograd claimed Russian successes in Russian Poland.

All sources agree that there is a lull in the struggle on the East Prussian frontier, following battles in which neither army won a decided advantage.

A correspondent at Flushing, Netherlands, reports that the greater part of the German army after the occupation of Ostend left for the east.

"ON TO BOULOGNE" THE GERMAN WAR CRY.

Ostend Occupied and Dunkirk Next Apparent Objective.

Allies Making Steady Progress on the Left, in Direction of Lille.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—German forces, as was predicted, have occupied Ostend near the sea, where the German right wing and the allies' left are struggling in the latest phase of what was once the Battle of the Aisne. All reports reaching London say that German imagination has been fired by the taking of Ostend and the cry now is not only "On to Calais," but "On to Boulogne."

What progress, if any, the Germans have made since they entered Ostend Thursday is not known here, but their next objective apparently is Dunkirk. Opinion in England seems to differ as to what part the British fleet would play should the battle continue to skirt the coast line, and the reports that British dreadnoughts would back up the French, British and Belgian forces from the straits of Dover seem to originate from German sources.

London papers generally decry the importance of the German occupation of the Belgian coast line, pointing out that the British mine field prevents the enemy bringing ships to operate near the harbor of Ostend. The fact remains, however, that the fighting grows geographically nearer to England, the public hitherto discussing and speculating on a Zeppelin raid, is bound to ask itself what will come next.

It is unquestionably true that if Germany is able to engineer submarine attacks from a base farther away, Ostend, if held by the invaders, certainly will be of some strategic value.

The allies' left is holding its ground. At some points it is even moving forward, having occupied Laventie, driving the Germans back in the direction of Lille. One report had it that the Germans had been driven out of Lille, but this has not been confirmed.

The presence of Uhlans has been reported recently within 40 miles of Calais. A glance at the map of the clashes in the last few days, which for a time extended as far west as Hazebrouck, shows that notwithstanding the German claims of victory the allies have made steady progress. Laventie being considerably east of the town mentioned.

Little definite news came during the morning of fighting along the Vistula river, where the Russians claim to have repulsed a German attack. Whether the German advance on Warsaw has been permanently checked, only the future can show. One version has it that the Germans are preparing to winter in Poland.

According to a despatch from Petrograd, dated Friday, but received here today, the Russians now have opened their attack along the entire line, with special energy in the south, where General Brussiloff's cavalry is said to have captured several Austrian detachments together with trains carrying re-inforcements and supplies. In retreating from Warsaw it is said that

RELATIVE QUIET ALONG LARGE PART OF FRONT

Allied Troops Occupy Fleurbaix and Lines to Armentieres.

French Still Gaining Ground in Region of Arras and St. Mihiel.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—The official statement given out at the French war office this afternoon was as follows:

"In Belgium the German troops occupying western Belgium have not crossed the line running from Ostend to Thourout to Roulers to Menin. There is relative quiet along the greater part of the front.

"On our left wing there has been no change. In the region of Ypres, on the right bank of the Lys the allied troops have occupied Fleurbaix, as well as the immediate approaches to Armentieres.

"In the region of Arras and also in the vicinity of St. Mihiel we have continued to gain ground.

"In the Russian field of operations there has been no change of importance on the front in East Prussia.

"Along the middle reaches of the Vistula river the Austro-Germans have driven to defensive along the entire front.

DEVELOPMENTS NEAR LILLE.

Germans May Attack Allies on Their Front Between Ostend and Ghent.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—A steady downpour of rain last night has drenched the fields of battle. The discomforts of the troops have been augmented by the rain and the difficulties of operations. The brevity of recent official communications is being commented on in Paris today and the fact that fighting has been going on as usual is making the people of the city ask if the present comparative silence is not the lull preceding the storm.

The joining of the barrier between the coast and Ypres to that of the existing front has made it impossible in the judgment of French military experts to turn the allies. On the contrary it will now be necessary for the Germans to attack the allies on their front, and it has been thought here that such an attempt would be made between Ostend and Ghent. To challenge this argument, however, is the fact that significant developments are said to be taking place near Lille. The strength of the positions of the

DISSOLUTION DECREE AGAINST THE NEW HAVEN.

Names Three Sets of Trustees, to Take Over Subsidiaries.

Provisions of the Order Filed on Request of the Government.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The dissolution decree asked by the government against the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company was filed in the federal district court here today by Attorney General Gregory. It bears the signature of federal Judge Mayer. The government complaint is dismissed by preliminary agreement in so far as it applies to all defendants, individual and corporation, with the exception of the railroad company itself, the New England Navigation Company, the Boston Railroad Holding Company, the Providence & Danielson Railway Company and the Boston & Maine Railroad Company.

The disintegration of the great railway, trolley and steamship transportation monopoly built up in New England during the past 12 years by the New York, New Haven & Hartford is prescribed in detail by the decree. Briefly the railroad trust must divest itself of vast holdings of trolley and steamship lines and must part with certain railroads brought under its domination, including the Boston & Maine, forever, and by public auction, if necessary.

The control of many of the New Haven's subsidiaries passed today, with the filing of the decree, from the road's directors who have so long managed them into the keeping of 15 men, termed trustees and acting as officers of the federal court. These men will rule these subsidiaries until such time as they are weaned, by sale, permanently from New Haven domination. The time limit set for the final parting varies, but in no case is it to be deferred beyond July 1, 1919.

Whether there will be linked under one management in the future the affairs of the New Haven road and the fleet of Sound steamers operated by the New England Steamship Company is to be determined later by the court, after the Interestate Commerce Commission passes upon the application of the New Haven company for authority to retain stock in the steamship company. In certain steamships companies, however, the New Haven must surrender its controlling influence.

The filing of the decree today closes the civil proceedings in connection with the government's investigation of the New Haven road. The criminal end of the investigation still is under way. To the government's dissolution decree the railroad company consented; in fact, for a time it appeared as if the big monopoly would be dissolved without the formality of a government suit. An eleventh-hour hitch in the plans for the disposal of Boston & Maine stock provoked the filing of a dissolution suit. Once the suit was filed, the government and the railroad speedily came to terms and the present decree was drafted.

Under its terms the suit is dismissed against all individual defendants and certain corporations subsidiary to the New Haven and the remaining defendants are found guilty of being a monopoly in restraint of trade. The single exception to this finding was the Boston & Maine, which is controlled by another defendant, the Boston Railroad Holding Company. The petition against the railroad company was dismissed without prejudice.

The decree provides for the three sets of trustees, the first to take over the Boston & Maine holdings of the New Haven, the second to take over the trolley line holdings in Connecticut, and the third to take over the trolley line holdings in Rhode Island. These trustees are to act as officers of the court in working out the methods provided for the ultimate sale of the holdings.

The three sets of trustees mentioned, in so far as the Boston & Maine and the trolley holding in Rhode Island and Connecticut are concerned, are to manage the properties, subject to the orders of the court, until they are sold. Each set of trustees is composed of five men.

All the remaining defendants, with the exception of the Boston & Maine Railroad Company, which is controlled by the Boston Railroad Holding Company, are declared by the decree to be corporations in restraint of trade and to have attempted monopolization, and are monopolizing trade in violation of the Sherman law.

The trustees for the Boston & Maine holdings are Marcus P. Knowlton of Springfield, Henry R. Day of Newton, Charles P. Hall of Newton, James M. Doherty of Springfield, all in AUSTRIANS MENACE RUSSIANS.

Plans Under Way for Big Battle in Eastern Arena of the War.

BERLIN, Oct. 17., via The Hague and London.—Preparations are under way for a gigantic battle in the eastern arena of the war, where Austrian and German armies have taken positions along the Vistula and San rivers and are ready for eventualities.

The re-taking of Przemysl, as announced from Austrian sources, has permitted the unfolding of the power of the Austrians from the direction of Leberg, and their advance in the southern Carpathian mountains is menacing the extreme left wing of the Russians. Desperate fighting already is going on along the centre of the two armies on the banks of the Vistula. This action has been in a measure delayed, owing to the bad condition of the roads in southern Poland and presence of sections of swampy lands. This condition has made necessary detours on the part of the Austrian and German forces.

[illegible]

The Russian army is east of the Vistula. This fact is regarded in Berlin as making its advance and the general management of the campaign a difficult matter. The Russian attack on the Austrians and Germans, unless they succeed in re-crossing the Vistula, which would be a difficult undertaking at the present time, will not be a difficult matter. It is understood here that heavy fighting for possession of the bridges at the head of the Vistula is imminent.

According to a despatch from Zurich, Switzerland, to the Cologne Gazette, the French are in a position to the east of Belfort. Since last Tuesday they have been reaching into Alsace, subjected meanwhile to a heavy mortar fire. This fighting has been very heavy and the Germans are said to be gaining ground slowly.

GERMANS REACH NORTH SEA.

Belgium Almost Completely in Possession of Troops.

BERLIN, Oct. 17, by wireless to Sayville, L. I.—According to announcement made in Berlin today, German troops in the vicinity of Ostend have reached the North sea and fighting is going on as far to the west as Dunkirk.

Belgium today appears to be almost completely in German possession. The French and British troops are reported as cut off on all sides, particularly around Ypres.

THEIR DEPORTATION ASKED.

Former Mexican Federal Army Officers Charged With Violating Laws.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Oct. 17.—Antonio Herndez and Ramon Hinojosa, former officers in the Mexican Federal army, were charged with violation of the immigration laws of the United States and their deportation has been asked in warrants sworn to here by immigration authorities.

HIT BY MEXICAN BULLETS.

Four Soldiers of the United States Cavalry Wounded.

NACO, Ariz., Oct. 17.Five men, a civilian and four soldiers of the United States cavalry, were wounded today by the Mexican bullets that flew far over the international boundary during an attack by Governor Maytorena's troops on the Carranza garrison of Naco, Sonora.

CATCHES HIS NECK IN A ROPE.

Young Bangor Boy Accidentally Killed Playing Indian.

BANGOR, Maine, Oct. 17.—Harry Thurston Adams, 12 years of age, son of Mrs. Marie Adams of Hampden, was accidentally killed today. The boy was playing Indian in the barn at his home and apparently caught his neck in the rope, falling from the stairs on which he was standing. The body was discovered shortly after the accident occurred, and physicians who were summoned stated that death was practically instantaneous.

SEMI-MONTHLY PAY.

New Order of Things at Training Station For the Ship's Company.

Semi-monthly pay will be in order at the Training Station henceforth for the "ship's company," who are carried on one roll, while the apprentices are on what is known as the recruit roll. The men in the destroyer fleet, which has been here, have been receiving their pay semi-monthly and it was simply a matter of time when the local station men were to visit the pay office oftener than once a month. The first payment will be made at the Training Station under the new order of things Tuesday and about 900 men will be affected. The recruits will continue to have their pockets lined once a month.

A FAREWELL SURPRISE PARTY

On account of conditions incident to moving at the home of Misses Mae and Lillian and Master John Walsh, their schoolmates and other little friends assembled Friday evening at the home of a schoolmate on Newport avenue to give them a farewell surprise party. Games, music and refreshments were on the program and they had a general good time. Among those present were Misses Dorothy and Helen Sheehan, Marion Lawless, Katherine Murphy, Helen Mahoney, Mary Kluge and Anna Marsden and Masters Howard Asher, James Collins, Rufus Bailey, Herbert Hollandorf and others, while the rain prevented many more from being present.

Chief Boatswain and Mrs. John D. Walsh and family will leave Tuesday for their new home in Portsmouth, N. H., where Mr. Walsh is assigned to duty.

SPECIAL PROBATE COURT SESSION.

A special session of the probate court was held this morning, when there was a hearing on the petition for the appointment of a guardian of Thomas Denniston. Dr. John E. Donnelly of Providence, an expert on mental diseases, testified and Anna G. Donnelly was appointed guardian of the person with a bond of $100, no surety being required. The Newport Trust Company was appointed guardian of the estate, with a bond of $40,000, no surety being required, as the personal estate will not exceed $20,000.

"ON TO BOULOGNE" THE GERMAN WAR CRY.

the Germans lost 42 guns intended for the siege of that city.

ARMY CONSTANTLY GROWING.

England Has Sent Merely An Advance Guard Into France.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The Times military correspondent, replying to the Frankfurter Zeitung's statement that Great Britain was unable to raise more than 600,000 troops, says: "We have at the present moment exactly double that number, namely, 1,200,000 men, and the number grows almost faster than we can cope with it. This is only the beginning. It is our way, as well as that of America, to begin to raise our arms after war breaks out and to go on raising them until our ultimate ends are achieved. With 1,200,000 men at home, the army in the field and the hundreds of thousands forming in India, Canada, Australia and elsewhere are merely the nucleus upon which other armies will eventually be built.

"It is only a question of time. This war for us has hardly begun. We have sent merely an advance guard into France. In the spring the remainder of the advance guard will follow. We are sorry for the allies that we are even slower than Russia in making our weight felt, but a year or so hence when the allies need a rest we shall be in a position to make good war.

"Nothing can arrest the steadily ascending figures of our army. Their cost is of little account since Germany will ultimately have to pay in territory as well as in money.

"Imagine things at their worst, imagine the last Cossack on the Urals, and the last French doorkeeper evicted, then we will begin a maritime war against Germany and still be no worse off than when we began war against Napoleon."

MOST CRITICAL OF BATTLES.

Fighting at Present Ebbing and Flowing Along Line to the North.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Within 100 miles of London the most critical battle, viewed from its effect on the immediate fortunes of the opposing armies, which has marked this colossal campaign, is at present ebbing and flowing along a line stretching through Belgium and further westward into the French department of the north.

The Germans have prepared for a renewal of their vigorous offensive by joining their victorious troops from Antwerp to the main army. Meantime the German offensive is meeting just as strenuous an offensive from the allied left which remains the most important position as it has been throughout the campaign.

"Everywhere our ground has been held at some points, ground has been gained" is the latest report from General Joffre, commander-in-chief of the French army, on the operations in this particular field.

The latest German official statement is silent regarding events there. The British war information bureau also is sphynx-like as to current events, contenting itself with amusing the nation by trivial side lights having no direct bearing on the campaign.

The only statement that had emanated from the bureau up to 2 o'clock in the afternoon was a denial intended to lay the ghosts of the rumors that followed the sinking of cruiser Hawke. "There is no truth whatever in rumors that any vessels of His Majesty's navy have been sunk or have otherwise met with disaster other than those about which announcements have already been made," said the official pronouncement.

ASHORE ON COAST OF KENT.

The Tubantia Believed to Have Many Passengers on Board.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—In a despatch from Dover, the correspondent of the Evening News says: "Dutch steamer Tubantia, of the Royal Holland Lloyd line, went ashore on the coast of Kent today while on her way to Rotterdam from Buenos Ayres, which port she left September 25. The Tubantia is believed to have a large number of passengers on board. Assistance has been summoned from Dover and other ports."

SEVERAL IMPORTANT GAMES.

Old-Time Rushing Tactics Expected to Mark Play Today.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Old-time line rushing tactics were expected to mark the play today on most of the eastern football gridirons, which are water soaked, and make the forward pass and other open plays uncertain of success. As today's games marked the turning point in the season, a majority of coaches had hoped for dry fields to make final tests of open play formations.

Of the several important games in the east today, that at New Haven between Yale and Notre Dame attracts the most attention, because of its inter-sectional flavor and the reputation for strength of the westerners. The question of the winner, decidedly an open one on a dry field, is expected to be even more in doubt on a slippery turf, where neither team will be able to resort to open play. The Princeton-Lafayette, Pennsylvania-Navy and Army-Colgate games are looked upon as bringing together team of almost equal strength. Harvard will take the field against Tufts at Cambridge with a substitute backfield. Tufts has played three games thus far and has scored 186 points to 0 for its opponents.

The leading games to be played on eastern gridirons to-day are as follows:

Harvard vs. Tufts at Cambridge.
Princeton vs. Lafayette at Princeton.
Yale vs. Notre Dame at New Haven.
Pennsylvania vs. Navy at Philadelphia.
Army vs. Colgate at West Point.
Cornell vs. Bucknell at Ithaca.
Dartmouth vs. Vermont at Hanover.
Carlisle vs. Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh.
Syracuse vs. Rochester at Syracuse.
Washington and Jefferson vs. Westminster at Washington, Pa.
Lehigh vs. Carnegie at South Bethlehem.
Pennsylvania State vs. Ursinus at State College, Pa.
Swarthmore vs. Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster.
Bates vs. New Hampshire at Lewiston.
Amherst vs. Trinity at Amherst.

NINE OF CREW LOST.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Steam trawler Ajax, out of Grimsby, has been blown up in the North sea by a German mine. Nine members of the crew lost their lives.

SENATE HOPES TO PASS REVENUE BILL TODAY.

Final Action on War Measure Expected Late Tuesday.

Adjournment of Congress on That Day or Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The Senate will pass the war revenue bill late today, conferees from the Senate and House will meet Monday, the bill will be finally passed Tuesday and adjournment of Congress will come late Tuesday or Wednesday, according to plans laid before President Wilson today by Chairman Simmon of the Senate finance committee. Senator Simmons told the President that the vote in the Senate on the amendments for the relief of the cotton situation will be close, but that probably they will fail of adoption. He did not think there would be much delay in reaching an agreement between the Senate and the House conferees.

Republican Senators said today that proposals had been made to them to vote for the cotton bond amendment and thereby insure a Presidential veto of the measure.

"Some Republican Senators may vote for the amendment, but much as we would like to kill the war tax bill we will not all vote for it," declared Senator Smoot when asked about a report that Republicans generally might join in its support. "The suggestion has been made to us that it would be a means to kill the bill, but I for one am not going to vote for the cotton bond amendment."

Discussion of the cotton amendment was resumed when the Senate convened, Senator Sheppard of Texas criticising a statement yesterday by Senator Williams of Mississippi that Senators who proposed the amendment were not sincere, but merely wanted a record vote and were talking for the benefit of their constituents.

FILED IN THE SENATE.

Protest Made Against the Forcible Search of the Metapan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Protest against a forcible search of the American merchant ship Metapan by French cruiser Conde in the Carribbean sea was filed in the Senate today by Senator Thomas. A letter was submitted by the Senator from R. W. Patterson, a passenger on the Metapan, who said officers of the Conde forced five Germans on the vessel to sign paroie agreements binding them not to fight against the allies in the European war.

TAFT—BOWERS WEDDING.

Ceremony Performed at St. John's Episcopal Church, Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The wedding today of Robert A. Taft, son of former President and Mrs. William Howard Taft, and Miss Martha A. Bowers, daughter of the late Lloyd W. Bowers, Solicitor General during a part of the Taft administration, was of absorbing interest in official and diplomatic society. The former President and Mrs. Taft had arrived in Washington for the marriage with Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Taft, Horace Taft, Miss Louise Taft, Charles P. Taft, Jr., and Mrs. John Hays Hammond.

The ceremony was performed at St. John's Episcopal Church at noon, Rev. Roland Cotton Smith officiating.

When the former President and Mrs. Taft reached their hotel rooms they found them filled with flowers from the White House conservatories and personal friends. President Wilson sent American beauty roses and chrysanthemums, with greetings to Mrs. Taft. Mr. and Mrs. Taft will be in Washington until next Friday. It was Mrs. Taft's first visit to Washington since her departure from the White House at the end of Mr. Taft's term.

Mr. Taft will preside at the convention of the American Bar Association Tuesday. Mr. Taft stated today that he had no engagement to go to the White House, but hoped to call on President Wilson during his stay here. He and President Wilson will meet Tuesday at the Bar Association Convention, when the President will deliver the address of welcome. Many dinners and other social events have been arranged for the Tafts.

AS TO THE GEIGER.

No Further Steps to be Taken Regarding Sending of Wireless.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Upon receiving from the Marconi company an expression of regret and assurance that greater caution would be exercised in the future, Secretary Daniels today ordered that no further steps be taken in regard to the sending of a message by the Marconi wireless station at Honolulu announcing the arrival there Thursday of German cruiser Geier.

RELATIVE QUIET ALONG LARGE PART OF FRONT.

allies near Lille, in the face of repeated and unsuccessful attacks by the enemy, has given them great encouragement.

Colonel Rousset, the military critic, in his review of the situation today, declares that it is now too late for the Germans to envelop the Franco-British line on their left. "I see in the change of front operated by the enemy," the colonel writes, "only an admission of increasing embarrassment. German strategy is at the present time a little disconcerting, and I believe the directors of this strategy are themselves incompletely disconcerted. They have tried to force both our wings. The engagements in the region of Roye and Lassigny have partaken of the Homeric. They have not procured for the Germans any benefit, nor have the combats which have taken place on the other extremity of our front."

OPERATIONS DIFFICULT.

Early Conclusion of Fighting in France Not Expected.

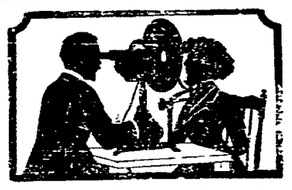

BORDEAUX, Oct. 17.—An early and decisive conclusion of the fighting in northern France is not expected in competent military circles here. It is believed, it is said, that the situation of the opposing armies will remain unchanged for some time to come. Damp fall weather has now set in and the roads are poor and the air laden with mists making extended operations difficult.

GERMAN SUBMARINES AROUND.

Entrances and Exits of the Gulfs of Riga and Finland Closed.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 17.—The Russian government announced that, because of the presence of German submarines in the Gulf of Finland and the sowing of mines in Russian waters by the enemy, it has been compelled in turn to have recourse to similar measures. Consequently, certain zones of Russian waters, especially those near the Gulf of Riga and Finland, and the Littoral archipelago, must be considered as dangerous. In order that non-combatants shall not run risks, the entrances and exits of the Gulfs of Riga and Finland, it is stated, are considered closed from the moment of publication of this notice.

"Nothing can arrest the steadily ascending figures of our army. Their cost is of little account since Germany will ultimately have to pay in territory as well as in money.

"Imagine things at their worst, imagine the last Cossack on the Urals, and the last French doorkeeper evicted, then we will begin a maritime war against Germany and still be no worse off than when we began war against Napoleon."

MOST CRITICAL OF BATTLES.

Fighting at Present Ebbing and Flowing Along Line to the North.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Within 100 miles of London the most critical battle, viewed from its effect on the immediate fortunes of the opposing armies, which has marked this colossal campaign, is at present ebbing and flowing along a line stretching through Belgium and further westward into the French department of the north.

The Germans have prepared for a renewal of their vigorous offensive by joining their victorious troops from Antwerp to the main army. Meantime the German offensive is meeting just as strenuous an offensive from the allied left, which remains the most important position as it has been throughout the campaign.

"Everywhere our ground has been held at some points, ground has been gained" is the latest report from General Joffre, commander-in-chief of the French army, on the operations in this particular field.

The latest German official statement is silent regarding events there. The British war information bureau also is sphynx-like as to current events, contenting itself with amusing the nation by trivial side lights having no direct bearing on the campaign.

"The only statement that had emanated from the bureau up to 2 o'clock in the afternoon was a denial intended to lay the ghosts of the rumors that followed the sinking of cruiser Hawke. "There is no truth whatever, in rumors that any vessels of His Majesty's navy have been sunk or have otherwise met with disaster other than those about which announcements have already been made," said the official pronouncement.

ASHORE ON COAST OF KENT.

The Tubantia Believed to Have Many Passengers on Board.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—In a despatch from Dover, the correspondent of the Evening News says: "Dutch steamer Tubantia, of the Royal Holland Lloyd line, went ashore on the coast of Kent today while on her way to Rotterdam from Buenos Ayres, which port she left September 25. The Tubantia is believed to have a large number of passengers on board. Assistance has been summoned from Dover and other ports."

SEVERAL IMPORTANT GAMES.

Old-Time Rushing Tactics Expected to Mark Play Today.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Old-time line rushing tactics were expected to mark the play today on most of the eastern football gridirons, which are water soaked, and make the forward pass and other open plays uncertain of success. As today's games marked the turning point in the season, a majority of coaches had hoped for dry fields to make final tests of open play formations.

Of the several important games in the east today, that at New Haven between Yale and Notre Dame attracts the most attention, because of its inter-sectional flavor and the reputation for strength of the westerners. The question of the winner, decidedly an open one on a dry field, is expected to be even more in doubt on a slippery turf, where neither team will be able to resort to open play. The Princeton-Lafayette, Pennsylvania-Navy and Army-Colgate games are looked upon as bringing together team of almost equal strength. Harvard will take the field against Tufts at Cambridge with a substitute backfield. Tufts has played three games thus far and has scored 186 points to 18 for its opponents.

The leading games to be played on eastern gridirons today are as follows:

Harvard vs. Tufts at Cambridge.
Princeton vs. Lafayette at Princeton.
Yale vs. Notre Dame at New Haven.
Pennsylvania vs. Navy at Philadelphia.
Army vs. Colgate at West Point.
Cornell vs. Bucknell at Ithaca.
Dartmouth vs. Vermont at Hanover.
Carlisle vs. Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh.
Syracuse vs. Rochester at Syracuse.
Washington and Jefferson vs. Westminister at Washington, Pa.
Lehigh vs. Carnegie at South Bethlehem.
Pennsylvania State vs. Ursinus at State College, Pa.
Swarthmore vs. Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster.
Bates vs. New Hampshire, at Lewiston.
Amherst vs. Trinity at Amherst.

SENATE HOPES TO PASS REVENUE BILL TODAY.

Final Action on War Measure Expected Late Tuesday.

Adjournment of Congress on That Day or Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The Senate will pass the war revenue bill late today, conferees from the Senate and House will meet Monday, the bill will be finally passed Tuesday and adjournment of Congress will come late Tuesday or Wednesday, according to plans laid before President Wilson today by Chairman Simmons of the Senate finance committee. Senator Simmons told the President that the vote in the Senate on the amendments for the relief of the cotton situation will be close, but that probably they will fail of adoption. He did not think there would be much delay in reaching an agreement between the Senate and the House conferees.

Republican Senators said today that proposals had been made to them to vote for the cotton bond amendment and thereby insure a Presidential veto of the measure.

"Some Republican Senators may vote for the amendment, but much as we would like to kill the war tax bill we will not all vote for it," declared Senator Simont when asked about a report that Republicans generally might join in its support. "The suggestion has been made to us that it would be a means to kill the bill, but I for one am not going to vote for the cotton bond amendment."

Discussion of the cotton amendment was resumed when the Senate convened, Senator Sheppard of Texas criticising a statement yesterday by Senator Williams of Mississippi that Senators who proposed the amendment were not sincere, but merely wanted a record vote and were talking for the benefit of their constituents.

FILED IN THE SENATE.

Protest Made Against the Forcible Search of the Metapan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Protest against a forcible search of the American merchant ship Metapan by French cruiser Conde in the Carrisea was filed in the Senate today by Senator Thomas. A letter was submitted by the Senator from R. W. Patterson, a passenger on the Metapan, who said officers of the Conde forced five Germans on the vessel to sign parole agreements binding them not to fight against the allies in the European war.

TAFT—BOWERS WEDDING.

Ceremony Performed at St. John's Episcopal Church, Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The wedding today of Robert A. Taft, son of former President and Mrs. William Howard Taft, and Miss Martha A. Bowers, daughter of the late Lloyd W. Bowers, Solicitor General during a part of the Taft administration, was of absorbing interest in official and diplomatic society. The former President and Mrs. Taft had arrived in Washington for the marriage with Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Taft, Horace Taft, Miss Louise Taft, Charles P. Taft, Jr., and Mrs. John Hays Hammond.

The ceremony was performed at St. John's Episcopal Church at noon, Rev. Roland Cotton Smith officiating.

When the former President and Mrs. Taft reached their hotel rooms they found them filled with flowers from the White House conservatories and personal friends. President Wilson sent American beauty roses and chrysanthemums, with greetings to Mrs. Taft. Mr. and Mrs. Taft will be in Washington until next Friday. It was Mrs. Taft's first visit to Washington since her departure from the White House at the end of Mr. Taft's term.

Mr. Taft will preside at the convention of the American Bar Association Tuesday. Mr. Taft stated today that he had no engagement to go to the White House, but hoped to call on President Wilson during his stay here. He and President Wilson will meet Tuesday at the Bar Association Convention, when the President will deliver the address of welcome. Many dinners and other social events have been arranged for the Tafts.

AS TO THE GEIGER.

No Further Steps to be Taken Regarding Sending of Wireless.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Upon receiving from the Marconi company an expression of regret and assurance that greater caution would be exercised in the future, Secretary Daniels today ordered that no further steps be taken in regard to the sending of a message by the Marconi wireless station at Honolulu announcing the arrival there Thursday of German cruiser Geier.

RELATIVE QUIET ALONG LARGE PART OF FRONT.

allies near Lille, in the face of repeated and unsuccessful attacks by the enemy, has given them great encouragement.

Colonel Rousset, the military critic, in his review of the situation today, declares that it is now too late for the Germans to envelop the Franco-British line on their left. "I see in the change of front operated by the enemy," the colonel writes, "only an admission of increasing embarrassment. German strategy is at the present time a little disconcerting, and I believe the directors of this strategy are themselves incompletely disconcerted. They have tried to force both our wings. The engagements in the region of Roye and Lassigny have partaken of the Homeric. They have not procured for the Germans any benefit, nor have the combats which have taken place on the other extremity of our front."

OPERATIONS DIFFICULT.

Early Conclusion of Fighting in Franco Not Expected.

BORDEAUX, Oct. 17.—An early and decisive conclusion of the fighting in northern France is not expected in competent military circles here. It is believed, it is said, that the situation of the opposing armies will remain unchanged for some time to come. Damp fall weather has now set in and the roads are heavy and the air laden with mists, making extended operations difficult.

GERMAN SUBMARINES AROUND.

Entrances and Exits of the Gulfs of Riga and Finland Closed.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 17.—The Russian government announced that, because of the presence of German submarines in the Gulf of Finland and the sowing of mines in Russian waters by the enemy, it has been compelled in turn to have recourse to similar measures. Consequently, certain zones of Russian waters, especially those near the Gulf of Riga and Finland, and the Littoral archipelago, must be considered as dangerous. In order that non-combatants shall not run risks, the entrances and exits of the Gulfs of Riga and Finland, it is stated, are considered closed from the moment of publication of this notice.

IT WAS THE CAT.

told "Certainly." She returned and an express took her goods. He asked when she was coming again. She said: "I guess you don't want to see me." He was not impertinent to her, as she has testified. He knows nothing of the cat-goldfish dialogue mentioned by Miss Kaull.

The rooms were specially prepared for Miss Kaull, in the Cranston Avenue house. She suggested pink and that was used. She also liked the green room, which was entirely renovated. These rooms are kept still for her use, and he has never interfered with her enjoying her home there.

Defendant's mother was sick a long time; she had an operation, and a nurse for four months. Miss Kaull gave him $500, saying she intended to give even more. She thought if she lived with them she ought to contribute for the support of the house. She did not tell him to "let the lot slide." She told him to use what was necessary while his mother was sick, and apply the balance to the purchase of the house. When she gave him the $500 she said she had drawn out a plenty; she would never miss it; take it and use it for the house.

At 4:29 the court adjourned to 9:30 a. m. Monday.

CANDIDATES INITIATED.

Priscilla Alden Council, Daughters of Liberty, Visited by State Officers.

The members of Priscilla Alden Council, Daughters of Liberty, had Friday evening a class initiation and visit from state officers and a delegation from Martha Washington Council of New Shoreham. A supper was served early in the evening for the visitors, who included State Councillor George Messenger, State Vice Councillor Ella Johnson, State Organizer Lena Simms, State Secretary Maude Messenger, and members of Councils from Providence and other cities in the state. Councillor Grace Watson of Priscilla Alden Council presided and extended a cordial welcome to the visitors.

Nine candidates were initiated, the degree work being especially well done by a team of 16 from Martha Washington Council, including Councillor Sara Sheffield, Vice Councillor Arminia Rose, Associate Councillor Bertha Atkinson, Associate Vice Councillor Gladys Littlefield, Guide Sara Littlefield, Jr., ex-Councillors Susie Milliken and Ivy Littlefield, Treasurer Minnie Ball, Financial Secretary Anstice Littlefield, Recording Secretary Elizabeth Dodge, Associate Secretary Gladys Steadman, Inside Guard Lenice Rose and Escorts Mary Mott, Phoebe Sheffield, Lillian Tourjee and Annie Sheffield. It was expected that a larger number of members would come over from New Shoreham, but the rain prevented others than the members of the degree team.

GERMANY ASKS NEW WAR CREDIT.

The Prussian government will ask the Diet for a war credit of more than $2,500,000,000. Government work on the railways and highways will be opened in order to cope with the unemployment situation and to give relief to small communities. At a night sitting of the party leaders it was decided unanimously to support the government's program. The sitting of the Diet will partake of the character of a war session and will last only a few days.

A Belgian soldier, speaking of the operations at the front, makes special mention of the useful work being done by the Belgian dogs. He says they not only are used in searching for the wounded but play an important role in dragging carts on which are mounted quick-firers.

AN INDICTMENT.

[The Christian Herald.]

What have you done, you sons of men
Gifted with rights divine,
With all Earth's largesse at your feet
Pressed out like ruby wine;
Her harvest for your gathering
Her commerce for your greed,
Her flocks and herds and feathered fowl
For all your utmost need?

What have you done, you pirate crew
That run the ships of state,
You monsters of the mighty hand,
Whom common men call great,
You kings of power and finance,
You lords of land and greed;
Is this the best that you can do
For all your earthly need—

To plunge the world in horror red,
To lay the strongest low,
To loose the fiendish dogs of war
That Greed her crown may know;
A crown of warring millions
Of blood and lust and tears,
Of starving infants; ruined lands
For twice a hundred years?

IT WAS THE CAT.

told "Certainly." She returned and an express took her goods. He asked when she was coming again. She said: "I guess you don't want to see me." He was not impertinent to her, as she has testified. He knows nothing of the cat-goldfish dialogue mentioned by Miss Kauli.

The rooms were specially prepared for Miss Kauli, in the Cranston Avenue house. She suggested pink and that was used. She also liked the green room, which was entirely renovated. These rooms are kept still for her use, and he has never interfered with her enjoying her home there.

Defendant's mother was sick a long time; she had an operation, and a nurse for four months. Miss Kauli gave him $500, saying she intended to give even more. She thought if she lived with them she ought to contribute for the support of the house. She did not tell him to "let the lot slide." She told him to use what was necessary while his mother was sick, and apply the balance to the purchase of the house. When she gave him the $500 she said she had drawn out a plenty; she would never miss it; take it and use it for the house.

At 4:29 the court adjourned to 9:30 a. m. Monday.

CANDIDATES INITIATED.

Priscilla Alden Council, Daughters of Liberty, Visited by State Officers.

The members of Priscilla Alden Council, Daughters of Liberty, had Friday evening a class initiation and visit from state officers and a delegation from Martha Washington Council of New Shoreham. A supper was served early in the evening for the visitors, who included State Councillor George Messenger, State Vice Councillor Ella Johnson, State Organizer Lena Simms, State Secretary Maude Messenger, and members of Councils from Providence and other cities in the state. Councillor Grace Watson of Priscilla Alden Council presided and extended a cordial welcome to the visitors.

Nine candidates were initiated, the degree work being especially well done by a team of 16 from Martha Washington Council, including Councillor Sara Sheffield, Vice Councillor Arminia Rose, Associate Councillor Bertha Atkinson, Associate Vice Councillor Gladys Littlefield, Guide Sara Littlefield, Jr., ex-Councillors Susie Milliken and Ivy Littlefield, Treasurer Minnie Ball, Financial Secretary Anstice Littlefield, Recording Secretary Elizabeth Dodge, Associate Secretary Gladys Steadman, Inside Guard Lenice Rose and Escorts Mary Mott, Phoebe Sheffield, Lillian Tourjee and Annie Sheffield. It was expected that a larger number of members would come over from New Shoreham, but the rain prevented others than the members of the degree team.

GERMANY ASKS NEW WAR CREDIT.

The Prussian government will ask the Diet for a war credit of more than $2,500,000,000. Government work on the railways and highways will be increased in order to cope with the unemployment situation and to give relief to small communities. At a joint sitting of the party leaders it was decided unanimously to support the government's program. The sitting of the Diet will partake of the character of a war session and will last only a few days.

A Belgian soldier, speaking of the operations at the front, makes special mention of the useful work being done by the Belgian dogs. He says they not only are used in searching for the wounded but play an important role in dragging carts on which are mounted quick-firers.

NO ALUM IN ROYAL BAKING POWDER

AN INDICTMENT.

[The Christian Herald.]

What have you done, you sons of men
Gifted with rights divine,
With all Earth's largesse at your feet
Pressed out like ruby wine;
Her harvest for your gathering
Her commerce for your greed,
Her flocks and herds and feathered fowl
For all your utmost need?

What have you done, you pirate crew
That run the ships of state,
You monsters of the mighty hand,
Whom common men call great,
You kings of power and finance,
You lords of land and greed;
Is this the best that you can do
For all your earthly need—

To plunge the world in horror red,
To lay the strongest low,
To loose the fiendish dogs of war
That Greed her crown may know;
A crown of warring millions
Of blood and lust and tears,
Of starving infants; ruined lands
For twice a hundred years?

VON JAGOW TO ITALY.

Some weeks ago William II sent word to Italy that, whether conqueror or conquered, he would never forget its infamous treachery.

Since that time Italy has been mobilizing its troops. Winter clothing has been provided for them. Mobs in Rome have been demanding war against Austria, and now Secretary of State Von Jagow is addressing Italy in honeyed words. He has no reproaches for Italian neutrality. He regrets that Italy is not fighting on the side of Germany, and is sure that its interests lie with the two German empires, in spite of the grievances of Italy against Austria. He does not admit that Italy's refusal to go into the war with its partners of the Triple Alliance amounts to a withdrawal from the alliance. He assumes Italy to be still a member of the Dreibund, and urges it to remain a member. Germany, he told a Rome newspaper, still continues friendly to Italy, and is prepared to prove her friendliness after the war.

This is a clever suggestion. In the event of German success it has been assumed that Italy would be punished by surrendering some of its possessions to Austria. Here is an assurance that, even if Italy does not fight with the rest of the Dreibund, it will not be punished for it. Germany will protect it from the wrath of Austria. This puts the balance of chances on the other side. Instead of having a chance to win Trent and Trieste if it joins the allies, and of losing something if Germany wins, Italy is offered full protection if it keeps out of the war, while if it joins the allies and they are defeated it will stand a fine chance of dismemberment.

Evidently the secretary of state is more diplomatic than the Kaiser, and he has taken the one course calculated to make Italy keep out of the war. Italy will not fight on the side of Austria, but Dr. Von Jagow is setting Italians to wondering whether they can afford to fight against Austria when assured that Germany is friendly and will protect them in the event of a German victory. His interview in a Roman paper is a very shrewd stroke.

BOOMING A STATE.

They certainly are hustlers out in California, and do not allow grass to grow under their feet. The business men are wide-awake, take advantage of every opportunity for booming their own affairs and those of the whole state, and when no opportunities seem to present themselves they proceed to make them. That is what is being done at present by a state commercial club, which is supplying lectures for cities and towns who will discuss the resources of California. Further than that, moving picture films are being made, which will show these resources and the leading industries. By that means it is hoped to boom the state within its own borders and make all the people well acquainted with the conditions and possibilities.

It would not be surprising if the next step should be to send lecturers equipped with moving pictures outside the state, to give to the whole country a better idea of the resources of California and to boom commercial relations with other sections. Indeed that has already been done to some extent, though not on a large scale and not as a general movement. After telling the people at home what the state can do, the next logical step is same story and try to bring them into close commercial relations.

Then will they go across the ocean and tell the whole world what California can do and is ready and willing to do? It would not be strange if that were the case, for there seems to be no limit to the hustling qualities, ambition and energy of these live wires. They surely are giving the country some lessons as to how to boom their own business and their state which could be copied with profit.

KNOWING ONE'S PARISH.

It is an old saying that "when a minister can talk to a man about that man's business without making a fool of himself he gains the man's respect," and many a clergyman has found it to be so. This puts on a high standard the special education which a minister requires to equip him for his work, when he needs to know enough about every line of business and every kind of occupation to be able to talk intelligently with all sorts and conditions of men about the work they are doing. It is probably impossible for any one to know enough about the details of many departments of business to seem well informed concerning them in conversation with those engaged in these lines, but he can at least have a general knowledge, that is accurate so far as it goes, of such kinds of business as are most common in his parish. That makes it comparatively easy in the rural districts as against a city parish, since in the former case the large proportion are engaged in the occupation of farming or pursuits closely allied to it. It especially behooves rural clergymen, therefore, to equip themselves with information concerning agriculture in its many branches.

In California last December at the university's farm school a convention was held for the ministers of the state and between 40 and 50 listened to lectures, heard addresses and attended classes. Thus they became interested in all kinds of farm work and had their eyes opened in many instances to the problems which press upon those engaged in agriculture, the great variety of work they do and the needs which they and the members of their families feel. It was a valuable experience for these clergymen and they went home knowing much more about their parishioners than before and far better equipped to secure their confidence and make them willing to accept their help. They went home, too, feeling that they must know still more about the occupations of their people and eager to do so, in order that they might come into touch with those they served. Such a gathering undoubtedly did a great amount of good to both the minsters and the people, and will help solve many of the problems of the rural community, the rural church and rural parish work, often so perplexing.

THE NEW CASE AGAINST BELGIUM.

If the Germans found in Antwerp the alleged correspondence of some years ago between Belgium and England, it affords not the least foundation for the superstructure of charges which Count Bernstorff seeks to erect upon it. Supposing it to be exactly what it is said to be, it shows only that it was expected some time ago that Germany would violate Belgian neutrality. It only shows the preparations made for joint action in that event.

That Belgium had no confidence in Germany's observance of the Quintuple Treaty of 1839 is proved by its maintenance of a considerable army and its large expenditures for fortifications, which served a little purpose in delaying the German advance but which a few days of bombardment sufficed to destroy. Whether any nation after this will go to the expense of permanent fortifications, except to command narrow navigable channels, may be doubted. Sir Thomas Barclay, in his reminiscences, written before the war began, notes that the Belgians did not rely on the neutrality treaty to protect them from Germany, and commends them for their discretion.

It was remarked several years ago that Germany had built camps near the Belgian frontier and its strategic railways led to points near the line Germany did not withdraw from the quintuple agreement, because there was a bare possibility that England and France would pay some attention to it, and Germany has for years intended to be less punctilious than it was in 1870, and to take advantage of the better route into France afforded by Belgium. With the knowledge of this fact, England and Belgium may have concerted measures for the defense of the neutrality of the little nation. It is an extraordinary fact that the belief that Germany would violate its treaty should now be cited as proof that the treaty had been destroyed by the action of Belgium and England.

There has been no evidence that England or France violated the neutrality of Belgium on the eve of this war, and substantial evidence that they did not.

The Democratic leaders in New York have two things which are causing them a good deal of anxiety in the present campaign. The decreased registration, which is smallest in that party's stronghold, is a source of considerable worry, but the greatest fear comes from the indications that ex-Governor Sulzer is cutting largely into their votes. Sulzer is running as an independent and also on the regular Prohibition ticket, after having failed to secure the Progressive nomination. Democrats who have been going through up-state sections, and have learned the strength of the Sulzer movement, are seeking to induce the former governor to withdraw. After Sulzer was removed from the governor's chair it is not to be expected that he will do anything to save the Democratic party, and from present indications he will do all that he can to defeat it.

One more step has been taken in the dissolution of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company and its subsidiaries by the filing of the form of decree agreed upon. The railroad directors have passed the necessary resolutions authorizing the executive officers of the company to transfer the Boston & Maine and the Rhode Island and Connecticut trolley companies to trustees and titles pass as soon as the decree becomes a matter of court record or as soon thereafter as the necessary papers can be completed. Then the properties will cease to be operated or controlled by the New Haven company.

Congress has so nearly completed the work set before it by the President that adjournment by the middle of next week is virtually assured. An agreement reached by the Senate Friday, to vote on the war tax bill and all amendments before adjournment tonight, means that the changes will be ready for the House Monday, and the administration leaders expect a conference agreement in a day or two and a final vote, possibly on Wednesday.

Kansas has such a record-breaking wheat crop that the public may be asked to help the farmers dispose of their products, as the cotton planters and apple growers have already been asked to buy a bale of cotton or a barrel of apples to make up for the deficiencies in the markets caused by the European war.

The death of Marquis Antonio di San Giuliano, the Italian foreign minister, will not, it is believed, affect the foreign policy of Italy. He was a strong advocate of neutrality.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Underwood of Middletown, Mrs. William Hudson, Mr. Howard Allen, Miss Cora Mallett, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davenport and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Barker of Newport, and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Sherman and their three children from Quaker hill, Portsmouth. In the evening there was music and dancing, Mrs. Davenport at the piano.

The King's Daughters of Portsmouth were entertained at an all-day meeting by invitation of Mrs. J. W. McCartney, at her home, "Slate Hill Crest," Thursday. They have completed their recent work for the Red Cross, having received some assistance in the making of flannel bands by St. Mary's Choir Guild at the last week's meeting. A whole piece of outing flannel was purchased by the King's Daughters and has been made up. The time this week was spent in making aprons, a large number of which are sold at private sale.

Mrs. Orin P. Barker and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Philip Barker, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Y. Hart since Thursday, returned today to their home in Providence.

Owing to the rain the meetings of the Oliphant Club Friday afternoon and the Epworth League Friday evening were omitted.

Mrs. E. E. Wells and Mrs. Fred Smith, who have been spending a portion of the week in Pittsfield, Mass., in attendance at the convention of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, have returned.

The Australian House of Representatives has passed a bill appropriating £100,000 ($500,000) for a gift to Belgium. The speakers expressed gratitude to Belgium for her stand.

IN THE WAR ZONE.

The Beguinages of Belgium in Danger of Destruction by Germans.

[From a Tourist's Note Book.]

Will the Germans spare the Beguinages of Belgium or are these little paradises of religious houses to go down before the horror of Krupp guns? The revolutions and wars of 700 years have always respected these homes of good women, for the sake of the spirit of peace and good will to mankind that animates them. They once were numerous in the Rhine countries, but they have been gradually discouraged, and now, with the exception of two in Holland, Belgium holds them all. Of the 20 there the largest is St. Elizabeth's, in the outskirts of Ghent. In this little walled and moated town of brick Gothic live 700 Beguines, who pray three times a day in the pretty church, and, for the rest, nurse the sick, teach the poor, sew, make exquisite lace, and in a dozen ways earn money toward their maintenance and for their charities.

In this institution there are 18 small convents, where live the younger members, still under superiors, who exert a certain amount of authority. The greater number of the sisters have homes of their own, picturesque two-story houses, each with its walled bit of garden as entrance court, and with the street, number and name of patron saint over the tight gate that shuts out even the Beguinage world.

While this small town was built as a whole, it was not on a contractor's plan. The best architect of Belgium designed it, and the result is a charming variety with the Gothic as the foundation. Though a Beguin takes no perpetual vow, and is free at any time to return to the outside world, she rarely does this. The reason is no mystery. Apart from the joy of religious duty fulfilled, life is supremely happy in a Beguinage. The inmates are full of initiative, which is encouraged by the home life and the possession of an own purse and household. In the larger institutions two or three sisters are apt to make up a family, and in many of the homes we found mothers or near relatives living as boarders and helping to pay expenses. There is always one house where the work of the Beguins is sold, and here is an outspread of exquisite lace and rare needlework shown by the courtliest of sales-sisters.

To see a Beguinage at its best you must visit it at the time of the evening Angelus, when from every garden door the sisters come and flit through the narrow streets and green squares on the way to the church. The fine needlework has been laid aside as the twilight came on, and this is the hour of the "salut des Beguines." The stately women in trailing robes and white veils, the dim light, the chanting, the reverences before the high altar, and the courteous recognitions of each other—that are a part of the service—make up a scene to dwell long in the mind.

The quaintest of the Beguinages are smaller affairs and have buildings that date back to the thirteenth century. In these it is all white walls and grassy courts with tall trees, and the same arrangement of little low house shut off behind its own wall and garden. One of these leavings of the old world is at Bruges, and this is the type of the Klein Begynhof at Ghent. The Beguinage at Courtrai, now in a battlefield, was founded in 1211, and came unscathed through the famous "Battle of the Spurs," fought in the vicinity in 1302, the fight that yielded a booty of 700 gold spurs collected on the field where the French were defeated.

NO CHARGE FOR REFUGEES.

Services of Training Ship Newport Given Free to Rhode Island.

The state of New York will accept nothing from the state of Rhode Island for bringing two members of the State Harbor Improvement Commission home from Marseilles on training ship Newport recently. This statement is contained in a letter from William Bagley, secretary of the New York State Nautical School, and addressed to Samuel M. Conant, chairman of the state commission. The letter enclosed a copy of a letter sent to Mr. Bagley by Governor Glynn of New York, in which he stated that he was pleased that the state of New York could be of assistance to the state of Rhode Island and that, of course, there could be no charge made for the service rendered.

Shortly after the arrival home of Messrs. Conant and George H. Holmes, who were accompanied by Mrs. Conant and Mrs. Holmes, and six other refugees from France, Mr. Conant wrote to the New York State Nautical School Commission, asking what the bill was for the services rendered. Secretary Bagley was instructed to submit the matter to Governor Glynn, and the letter received is the result of this action.

GREAT DAY IN THE HOUSE.

Enthusiasm Marks Repealing of Resolution to "Dock" Absentees.

Boisterous enthusiasm marked the passage in the House of a resolution repealing the resolution adopted some weeks ago "docking" the pay of members who absented themselves from Washington without authority. It was a great day in the House, and scores of members packed their luggage and started for home to make an accounting to their constituencies.

Leader Underwood said the "docking" resolution was passed to maintain a quorum in Washington, but now that the House had virtually concluded its labors for the session there was no reason why members should not go home without fear of pecuniary penalization. Next week the House will need a quorum to put through the war revenue bill as it comes from the Senate, but he thought the necessary number of members could be brought back from near-by states.

CHEAPER MEATS MAY BE MADE PALATABLE.

[Fannie Merritt Farmer, in Woman's Home Companion.]

The value of meat as a food depends chiefly, of course, on its protein and fat, which are valuable in building and repairing the tissues of the system. Yet the government experts report that there is uniformity in the proportion of "building material" in the expensive and inexpensive cuts. The high-priced cuts of beef, coming from those parts of the animal where there is little motion, have short fibers, making tender meat, while the cheaper cuts have long, coarse fibers, which need long, slow cooking to make them tender enough to be digested easily. This is where the cook shows her skill, for the different cuts need different treatment.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Forecast for northern New England—Unsettled tonight and Sunday, probably rain; gentle to moderate east to south winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The trough of low pressure noted Friday, extending from Missouri to Pennsylvania, has moved slowly, with slightly diminished intensity. It has caused general rains, however, from the Mississippi valley to the Atlantic coast. Several stations on the New Jersey and south New England coast reported rather large amounts for the past 24 hours, notably Hartford, Conn., 2.39 inches and Block Island, R. I., 2.32 inches. The pressure is high in the Maritime Provinces. Clear weather prevails generally from the Mississippi valley to the Rocky mountains and unsettled, showery conditions in the Northwest, where a barometeric depression appears.

The temperatures are moderately high in New York, southern New England and Atlantic states, rather low in the Missouri valley and western Plain's states, and near the normal in other districts. The lowest reported in the country during last night was 34 degrees at Sheridan, Wyo. In New York at 8 a. m. it was 64, Boston 60, Washington 60, Jacksonville 60, St. Paul 42, Bismarck 36, Des Moines 44, Kansas City 48, Denver 46, Salt Lake City 56, San Francisco 58 and Portland, Oregon, 52.

VON JAGOW TO ITALY.

Some weeks ago William II sent word to Italy that, whether conqueror or conquered, he would never forget its infamous treachery.

Since that time Italy has been mobilizing its troops. Winter clothing has been provided for them. Mobs in Rome have been demanding war against Austria, and now Secretary of State Von Jagow is addressing Italy in honeyed words. He has no reproaches for Italian neutrality. He regrets that Italy is not fighting on the side of Germany, and is sure that its interests lie with the two German empires, in spite of the grievances of Italy against Austria. He does not admit that Italy's refusal to go into the war with its partners of the Triple Alliance amounts to a withdrawal from the alliance. He assumes Italy to be still a member of the Dreibund, and urges it to remain a member, Germany, he told a Rome newspaper, still continues friendly to Italy, and is prepared to prove her friendliness after the war.

This is a clever suggestion. In the event of German success it has been assumed that Italy would be punished by surrendering some of its possessions to Austria. Here is an assurance that, even if Italy does not fight with the rest of the Dreibund, it will not be punished for it. Germany will protect it from the wrath of Austria. This puts the balance of chances on the other side. Instead of having a chance to win Trent and Trieste if it joins the allies, and of losing something if Germany wins, Italy is offered full protection if it keeps out of the war, while if it joins the allies and they are defeated it will stand a fine chance of dismemberment.

Evidently the secretary of state is more diplomatic than the Kaiser, and he has taken the one course calculated to make Italy keep out of the war. Italy will not fight on the side of Austria, but Dr. Von Jagow is setting Italians to wondering whether they can afford to fight against Austria when assured that Germany is friendly and will protect them in the event of a German victory. His interview in a Roman paper is a very shrewd stroke.

BOOMING A STATE.

They certainly are hustlers out in California, and do not allow grass to grow under their feet. The business men are wide-awake, take advantage of every opportunity for booming their own affairs and those of the whole state, and when no opportunities seem to present themselves they proceed to make them. That is what is being done at present by a state commercial club, which is supplying lectures for cities and towns who will discuss the resources of California. Further than that, moving picture films are being made, which will show these resources and the leading industries. By that means it is hoped to boom the state within its own borders and make all the people well acquainted with the conditions and possibilities.

It would not be surprising if the next step should be to send lecturers equipped with moving pictures outside the state, to give to the whole country a better idea of the resources of California and to boom commercial relations with other sections. Indeed, that has already been done to some extent, though not on a large scale and not as a general movement. After telling the people at home what the state can do, the next logical step is same story and try to bring them into close commercial relations.

Then will they go across the ocean and tell the whole world what California can do and is ready and willing to do? It would not be strange if that were the case, for there seems to be no limit to the hustling qualities, ambition and energy of these live wires. They surely are giving the country some lessons as to how to boom their own business and their state which could be copied with profit.

KNOWING ONE'S PARISH.

It is an old saying that "when a minister can talk to a man about that man's business without making a fool of himself he gains the man's respect," and many a clergyman has found it to be so. This puts on a high standard the special education which a minister requires to equip him for his work, when he needs to know enough about every line of business and every kind of occupation to be able to talk intelligently with all sorts and conditions of men about the work they are doing. It is probably impossible for any one to know enough about the details of many departments of business to seem well informed concerning them in conversation with those engaged in these lines, but he can at least have a general knowledge, that is accurate so far as it goes, of such kinds of business as are most common in his parish. That makes it comparatively easy in the rural districts as against a city parish, since in the former case the large proportion are engaged in the occupation of farming or pursuits closely allied to it. It especially behooves rural clergymen, therefore, to equip themselves with information concerning agriculture in its many branches.

In California last December at the university's farm school a convention was held for the ministers of the state and between 40 and 50 listened to lectures, heard addresses and attended classes. Thus they became interested in all kinds of farm work and had their eyes opened in many instances to the problems which press upon those engaged in agriculture, the great variety of work they do and the needs which they and the members of their families feel. It was a valuable experience for these clergymen and they went home knowing much more about their parishioners than before and far better equipped to secure their confidence and make them willing to accept their help. They went home, too, feeling that they must know still more about the occupations of their people and eager to do so, in order that they might come into touch with those they served. Such a gathering undoubtedly did a great amount of good to both the ministers and the people, and will help solve many of the problems of the rural community, the rural church and rural parish work, often so perplexing.

THE NEW CASE AGAINST BELGIUM.

If the Germans found in Antwerp the alleged correspondence of some years ago between Belgium and England, it affords not the least foundation for the superstructure of charges which Count Bernstorff seeks to erect upon it. Supposing it to be exactly what it is said to be, it shows only that it was expected some time ago that Germany would violate Belgian neutrality. It only shows the preparations made for joint action in that event.

That Belgium had no confidence in Germany's observance of the Quintuple Treaty of 1839 is proved by its maintenance of a considerable army and its large expenditures for fortifications, which served a little purpose in delaying the German advance but which a few days of bombardment sufficed to destroy. Whether any nation after this will go to the expense of permanent fortifications, except to command narrow navigable channels, may be doubted. Sir Thomas Barclay, in his reminiscences, written before the war began, notes that the Belgians did not rely on the neutrality treaty to protect them from Germany, and commends them for their discretion.

It was remarked several years ago that Germany had built camps near the Belgian frontier and its strategic railways led to points near the line. Germany did not withdraw from the quintuple agreement, because there was a bare possibility that England and France would pay some attention to it, and Germany has for years intended to be less punctilious than it was in 1870, and to take advantage of the better route into France afforded by Belgium. With the knowledge of this fact, England and Belgium may have concerted measures for the defense of the neutrality of the little nation. It is an extraordinary fact that the belief that Germany would violate its treaty should now be cited as proof that the treaty had been destroyed by the action of Belgium and England.

There has been no evidence that England or France violated the neutrality of Belgium on the eve of this war, and substantial evidence that they did not.

The Democratic leaders in New York have two things which are causing them a good deal of anxiety in the present campaign. The decreased registration, which is smallest in that party's stronghold, is a source of considerable worry, but the greatest fear comes from the indications that ex-Governor Sulzer is cutting largely into their votes. Sulzer is running as an independent and also on the regular Prohibition ticket, after having failed to secure the Progressive nomination. Democrats who have been going through up-state sections, and have learned the strength of the Sulzer movement, are seeking to induce the former governor to withdraw. After Sulzer was removed from the governor's chair it is not to be expected that he will do anything to save the Democratic party, and from present indications he will do all that he can to defeat it.

One more step has been taken in the dissolution of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company and its subsidiaries by the filing of the form of decree agreed upon. The railroad directors have passed the necessary resolutions authorizing the executive officers of the company to transfer the Boston & Maine and the Rhode Island and Connecticut trolley companies to trustees and titles pass as soon as the decree becomes a matter of court record or as soon thereafter as the necessary papers can be completed. Then the properties will cease to be operated or controlled by the New Haven company.

Congress has so nearly completed the work set before it by the President that adjournment by the middle of next week is virtually assured. An agreement reached by the Senate Friday, to vote on the war tax bill and all amendments before adjournment tonight, means that the changes will be ready for the House Monday, and the administration leaders expect a conference agreement in a day or two and a final vote, possibly on Wednesday.

Kansas has such a record-breaking wheat crop that the public may be asked to help the farmers dispose of their products, as the cotton planters and apple growers have already been asked to buy a bale of cotton or a barrel of apples to make up for the deficiencies in the markets caused by the European war.

The death of Marquis Antonio di San Giuliano, the Italian foreign minister, will not, it is believed, affect the foreign policy of Italy. He was a strong advocate of neutrality.

An All-Day Family Gathering—King's Daughters Entertained.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Underwood entertained an all-day family gathering of 31 at their home on the West Main road Thursday, this being an annual event in the family. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Underwood of Middletown, Mrs. William Hudson, Mr. Howard Allen, Miss Cora Mallett, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davenport and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Barker of Newport, and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Sherman and their three children from Quaker hill, Portsmouth. In the evening there was music and dancing, Mrs. Davenport at the piano.

The King's Daughters of Portsmouth were entertained at an all-day meeting by invitation of Mrs. J. W. McCartney, at her home, "Slate Hill Crest," Thursday. They have completed their recent work for the Red Cross, having received some assistance in the making of flannel bands by St. Mary's Choir Guild at the last week's meeting. A whole piece of suiting flannel was purchased by the King's Daughters and has been made up. The time this week was spent in making aprons, a large number of which are sold at private sale.

Mrs. Orin P. Barker and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Philip Barker, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Y. Hart since Thursday, returned today to their home in Providence.

Owing to the rain the meetings of the Oliphant Club Friday afternoon and the Epworth League Friday evening were omitted.

Mrs. E. E. Wells and Mrs. Fred Smith, who have been spending a portion of the week in Pittsfield, Mass., in attendance at the convention of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, have returned.

The Australian House of Representatives has passed a bill appropriating £400,000 ($500,000) for a gift to Belgium. The speakers expressed gratitude to Belgium for her stand.

IN THE WAR ZONE.

The Beguinages of Belgium in Danger of Destruction by Germans.

[From a Tourist's Note Book.]

Will the Germans spare the Beguinages of Belgium or are these little paradises of religious houses to go down before the horror of Krupp guns? The revolutions and wars of 700 years have always respected these homes of good women, for the sake of the spirit of peace and good will to mankind that animates them. They once were numerous in the Rhine countries, but they have been gradually discouraged, and now, with the exception of two in Holland, Belgium holds them all. Of the 20 there the largest is St. Elizabeth's, in the outskirts of Ghent. In this little walled and moated town of brick Gothic live 700 beguines, who pray three times a day in the pretty church, and, for the rest, nurse the sick, teach the poor, sew, make exquisite lace, and in a dozen ways earn money toward their maintenance and for their charities.

In this institution there are 18 small convents, where live the younger members, still under superiors, who exert a certain amount of authority. The greater number of the sisters have homes of their own, picturesque two-story houses, each with its walled bit of garden as entrance court, and with the street, number and name of patron saint over the tight gate that shuts out even the Beguinage world.

While this small town was built as a whole, it was not on a contractor's plan. The best architect of Belgium designed it, and the result is a charming variety with the Gothic as the foundation. Though a Beguin takes no perpetual vow, and is free at any time to return to the outside world, she rarely does this. The reason is no mystery. Apart from the joy of religious duty fulfilled, life is supremely happy in a Beguinage. The inmates are full of initiative, which is encouraged by the home life and the possession of an own purse and household. In the larger institutions two or three sisters are apt to make up a family, and in many of the homes we found mothers or near relatives living as boarders and helping to pay expenses. There is always one house where the work of the Beguins is sold, and here is an outspread of exquisite lace and rare needlework shown by the courtliest of sales-sisters.

To see a Beguinage at its best you must visit it at the time of the evening Angelus, when from every garden door the sisters come and flit through the narrow streets and green squares on the way to the church. The fine needlework has been laid aside as the twilight came on, and this is the hour of the "salut des Beguines." The stately women in trailing robes and white veils, the dim light, the chanting, the reverences before the high altar, and the courteous recognitions of each other—that are a part of the service—make up a scene to dwell long in the mind.

The quaintest of the Beguinages are smaller affairs and have buildings that date back to the thirteenth century. In these it is all white walls and grassy courts with tall trees, and the same arrangement of little low house shut off behind its own wall and garden. One of these leavings of the old world is at Bruges, and this is the type of the Klein Begynhof at Ghent. The Beguinage at Courtrai, now in a battlefield, was founded in 1211, and came unscathed through the famous "Battle of the Spurs," fought in the vicinity in 1302, the fight that yielded a booty of 700 gold spurs collected on the field where the French were defeated.

NO CHARGE FOR REFUGEES.

Services of Training Ship Newport Given Free to Rhode Island.

The state of New York will accept nothing from the state of Rhode Island for bringing two members of the State Harbor Improvement Commission home from Marseilles on training ship Newport recently. This statement is contained in a letter from William Bagley, secretary of the New York State Nautical School, and addressed to Samuel M. Conant, chairman of the state commission. The letter enclosed a copy of a letter sent to Mr. Bagley by Governor Glynn of New York, in which he stated that he was pleased that the state of New York could be of assistance to the state of Rhode Island and that, of course, there could be no charge made for the service rendered.

Shortly after the arrival home of Messrs. Conant and George H. Holmes, who were accompanied by Mrs. Conant and Mrs. Holmes, and six other refugees from France, Mr. Conant wrote to the New York State Nautical School Commission, asking what the bill was for the services rendered. Secretary Bagley was instructed to submit the matter to Governor Glynn, and the letter received is the result of this action.

GREAT DAY IN THE HOUSE.

Enthusiasm Marks Repealing of Resolution to "Dock" Absentees.

Boisterous enthusiasm marked the passage in the House of a resolution repealing the resolution adopted some weeks ago "docking" the pay of members who absented themselves from Washington without authority. It was a great day in the House, and scores of members packed their luggage and started for home to make an accounting to their constituencies.

Leader Underwood said the "docking" resolution was passed to maintain a quorum in Washington, but now that the House had virtually concluded its labors for the session there was no reason why members should not go home without fear of pecuniary penalization. Next week the House will need a quorum to put through the war revenue bill as it comes from the Senate, but he thought the necessary number of members could be brought back from near-by states.

CHEAPER MEATS MAY BE MADE PALATABLE.

[Fannie Merritt Farmer, in Woman's Home Companion.]

The value of meat as a food depends chiefly, of course, on its protein and fat, which are valuable in building and repairing the tissues of the system. Yet the government experts report that there is uniformity in the proportion of "building material" in the expensive and inexpensive cuts. The high-priced cuts of beef, coming from those parts of the animal where there is little motion, have short fibers, making tender meat, while the cheaper cuts have long, coarse fibers, which need long, slow cooking to make them tender enough to be digested easily. This is where the cook shows her skill, for the different cuts need different treatment.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Forecast for southern New England—Unsettled tonight and Sunday, probably rain; gentle to moderate east to south winds.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Forecast for northern New England—Unsettled tonight and Sunday, probably rain; gentle to moderate east to south winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The trough of low pressure noted Friday, extending from Missouri to Pennsylvania, has moved slowly, with slightly diminished intensity. It has caused general rains, however, from the Mississippi valley to the Atlantic coast. Several stations on the New Jersey and south New England coast reported rather large amounts for the past 24 hours, notably Hartford, Conn., 2.30 inches and Block Island, R. I., 2.32 inches. The pressure is high in the Maritime Provinces. Clear weather prevails generally from the Mississippi valley to the Rocky mountains and unsettled, showery conditions in the Northwest, where a barometeric depression appears.

The temperatures are moderately high in New York, southern New England and Atlantic states, rather low in the Missouri valley and western Plain's states, and near the normal in other districts. The lowest reported in the country during last night was 31 degrees at Sheridan, Wyo. In New York at 8 a. m. it was 64, Boston 60, Washington 60, Jacksonville 66, St. Paul 42, Bismarck 36, Des Moines 44, Kansas City 48, Denver 46, Salt Lake City 56, San Francisco 58 and Portland, Oregon, 52.

ODD FELLOWS VISITED.

Aquidneck Chapter Entertains Full Suite of Grand Officers.

Aquidneck Encampment, No. 5, I. O. O. F., received Friday evening Grand Patriarch Austin Poole, head of the Grand Encampment of Rhode Island, on his annual visitation. The grand patriarch and his full suite of officers were greeted by a large number of members of the local Encampment, being escorted into the hall by Canton Newport and heartily welcomed by Chief Patriarch Charles F. Wetherell. After the formal work attendant upon the visitation the guests were taken to Cassim's restaurant, where supper was served at three tables, decorated with vases of flowers.

The visiting grand officers were Grand Patriarch Austin Poole, Grand Representatives Ralph Mayor and Walter H. McKay, Grand High Priest Kirkland H. Wilson, Grand Senior Warden Henry Arnold, Grand Junior Warden William Fish, Grand Sentry William H. Dobson, Deputy Grand Sentinel Gustavus Stimpson and Grand Marshal Walter Tweedill.

The committee in charge of the entertainment included Messrs. Donald L. Speers, Eben Raynor, Lincoln Hammett, William H. Sisson and Samuel N. Millington.

LIME KILN KLUB EXPIRES.

Spirit So Broken Down That There is No Further Reason for Existence.

The Lime Kiln Klub, after more than 15 years of existence, has expired. A joke at first, the club took serious being, with a membership limited in numbers, and for years enjoyed a healthy life with a waiting list. Fun and good fellowship was the key-note from the beginning, but as the years have passed and some of the members have become more settled in their ways, and can no longer see so much fun in joking, the spirit of the club has been broken down and so there has been no further reason for existence. Friday evening a little private auction was held among the members, at which those present bid in what they desired from the effects. The clubhouse, being on private property and located by sufferance, reverts to the owner of the land and may become a henhouse, despite the comfort it once boasted and the good times which have been had there.

CLUBROOM FOR MEMBERS.

The Newport Art Association to Continue Series of Lectures.

At a meeting of the Newport Art Association Friday afternoon, which was attended by about 70 members, a plan outlined by the executive committee and presented by Miss Waring, chairman of the house committee, and Mrs. Elliott, secretary of the Association, intended to make the rooms more attractive to members, was adopted. The proposition is to have one room at least open daily, provided with writing desk and materials, art books and magazines; in fact, to make a clubroom for members, where they and their friends may meet, read and discuss various matters of art. The meeting was enthusiastically in favor of the change, which will be put into effect as soon as possible. After the meeting tea and sandwiches were served. Miss Maude K. Wetmore pouring.

It has been decided to continue the series of lectures inaugurated by Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott two weeks ago. Mr. Elijah Baxter will speak October 25 on some subject relating to art, Mr. Norman M. Isham, a well known architect of Providence, November 4 on "Colonial Architecture," and November 9 Miss Waring on "Early Italian Masters." The last two of these will be illustrated, and it is proposed to make them as informal as possible, with an opportunity for members to participate in a discussion.

The Association's art classes will open next week.

CHILD NAMED GEORGE.

Younger Son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt Christened Today.

The christening of the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt, who was born at "Oakland Farm" September 13, took place this afternoon in St. Mary's Church, Portsmouth, Rev. F. W. Goodman, the rector, officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by a number of relatives who have come from away or are residing in Newport and by personal friends of Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt. Captain Isaac E. Emerson, the boy's maternal grandfather, and Mr. W. F. Whitehouse were godfathers and Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt, his aunt, godmother. The child was named George, after his father's uncle, the late George W. Vanderbilt, who died March 6 last.

Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt will leave Monday for their camp in the Adirondacks, where they will remain indefinitely.

RAISED "RUCTIONS" ON THE NEW YORK BOAT.

The New York boat this morning supplied the fare for the police station session, mainly because the three prisoners had no fare. In addition, they raised "ructions" on board and used language which called for summary action. They were jocked up on the boat and turned over to the police when the dock here was reached. They should have been taken to Fall River, for they were bound to Massachusetts, but from here they went to Cranston. Two of the men are reported to have come from the naval station at Norfolk, where they were rejected as undesirable. This seems to have been a wise decision on the part of the naval officials.

UMBRELLA FOR OFFICER COGGESHALL.

Mr. William G. Landers has notified Officer Coggeshall that he has a large blue umbrella for his fixed post station when it is completed and ready to go into commission. It is progressing at a satisfactory rate, except that Officer Coggeshall does not yet see where the rail is to come from. The umbrella he will save until next summer, and use it for a sun umbrella.

That a fixed man at this point is really needed was shown Friday afternoon, when two machines on Thames street came to a halt on call and a young woman in a runabout shot across Thames street because of the slippery pavement. It was a narrow escape.

FEATURES OF NEW BILL.

Vaudeville Acts and "A Woman's Triumph" in Four Reels.

At the Opera House Monday will bring the usual change of show. The feature of the new bill will be the Pia Opera Trio in vocal selections. Two women and a man comprise the act—Rosalie Muthall, soprano; Edith Ford, tenor, and Serafin Pia, baritone. Another act is Frank Mitchell's sketch, "The Passenger Wreck," a fine example of stage craft while the plot is novel, with five people. Earl and Bartlett in "The Man from Dublin" introduce a specialty of Irish songs and sayings to bring a laugh. Marion Kay, a jolly commedienne, will "put over" a number entirely new, with jokes and monologue, for 15 minutes or more.

These acts of vaudeville are followed by the Famous Players' late release, "A Woman's Triumph," presented by Daniel Frohman in four reels of picturesque background, produced by actors and actresses capable of handling the plot in exellent manner. The fourth episode of "Lucille Love" shows Lucille forced out of her hut by the invasion of poisonous snakes, placed there by Lubecque. She escapes through the desert and is hounded by lions.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

The weekly match of the Diamond Spring Rifle Club was held last evening, Hoyle being high man. The scores:

Hoyle	229	223	452

Alderson	208	212	420

Ferryboat J. A. Saunders was off the line several hours Friday, to have work done to the steering gear. The Narragansett, which had come around the island the day before to lay up, made the trips to Saundertown and Fort Greble while the Saunders was off.

With two tickets in the field for next month's election, the politicians are busy putting their fences in order and a close contest is looked for.

One of the large Erie cargo-carrying tugs with a light barge is anchored in the west bay for a harbor.

The garrison at Fort Greble is preparing for target practice with the machine guns and several rafts representing landing parties, with dummy figures, have been built.

TWO INCHES OF RAIN.

Parched Earth Takes it All In—Longest Drought in Ninety-Nine Years.

Up to 6 this morning two inches of rain had fallen in 24 hours and the fall had been so gradual that the parched earth had taken it all in.

Some places say this has been the longest drought in 99 years. Things have certainly been dry out on the island, yet one farmer reported this morning that his cistern, dry Thursday, was full this morning. Had it not been for the Water Works Company allowing water to run into the brook the farmers would have been much worse off than they were. There was abundance of water in the ponds, so that the company could allow water to flow, and this it has done for the past two months.

The rain has caused a general dropping of leaves, and in places the walking is bad in consequence.

Outdoor work has ceased since the rain came.

Chadwick will speak at the celebration of the centenary of Commodore Macdonough's victory on Lake Champlain, which will be held at Middletown, Conn., next Tuesday, under the auspices of the Middlesex County Historical Society. Mr. Rodney Macdonough of Boston, a grandson of the commodore, will read a biographical paper on this occasion.

BANNER YEAR IN PROSPECT.

Y. M. C. A. Boys' Class and Recreation League Far Ahead of Record.

Indications already point to a banner year in attendance at the Young Men's Christian Association, and it is confidently expected, in view of recent developments, that the influx of members will continue for the next two weeks in large numbers, and also through the remainder of the year. The records show that 11 boys reported for the first gymnasium class in 1913, while in the first class this morning there were 24, besides six others who did not have suits, making a total of 30 against 11, almost three times the attendance.

Just 41 men were available in the Recreation League last season, and more than double this number, 84 to be exact, are waiting for the opening events this year. Instead of five teams there will be eight, the captains having already been appointed. More are expected to join as the season advances. There will be a meeting of the captains next week to decide upon plans for the opening of the league, which will be either November 5 or 7.

Captains of the teams in the Pan-Athletic League had their meeting this noon and decided upon the events which will be played in the opening of the league season, two weeks from today. The sensational finish last year showed how much interest the boys took in the league, and many more will undoubtedly add to this rivalry.

Physical Director Slocum had charge of the boys' gymnasium class this morning, while Boys' Work Secretary Stokes officiated in the boys' lobby, giving out game checks and other supplies for the coming season. The small pocket billiard table in the boys' lobby has been re-banked and a new cloth put on. A dozen new cues with ivory tips have been secured for the large pool table, while a half dozen of the smaller ones were purchased for the smaller table.

SOME LITTLE MACKEREL.

New Fish Houses Going Up Despite the Quietness at Long Wharf.

Owing to the absence of anything which looked like fish, things were very quiet at Long wharf this noon and the agents announced that they were all out and working for Chester B. Tallman for senator.

C. A. Easterbrooks had some little mackerel this morning which went above the average which have been coming in, weighing half a pound each. F. W. Lawton also had some, and some are reported from Block Island. The amateur fishermen are catching them off Rose island. The professionals are skeptical of any mackerel fishing this fall and the Clara T. is hauled out to fit out for codfishing.

Yet two new fish houses have gone up. One has been built on Dugan's dock, an addition to the string of buildings already there. This is 55 by 22 feet and is for J. O. Proctor, who expected to come here this fall and salt fish. Down on Lee's wharf the Darling-Slade Company, which is making improvements to the old coal dock for the new owner Jeremiah F. Sullivan, is building a fish house for Tallman & Mack. This is 25 by 50 feet and two stories high, and would be an ideal place for salting fish. It will also be an ideal place for cold when the real winter comes.

ODD FELLOWS VISITED.

Aquidneck Chapter Entertains Full Suite of Grand Officers.

Aquidneck Encampment, No. 5, I. O. O. F., received Friday evening Grand Patriarch Austin Poole, head of the Grand Encampment of Rhode Island, on his annual visitation. The grand patriarch and his full suite of officers were greeted by a large number of members of the local Encampment, being escorted into the hall by Canton Newport and heartily welcomed by Chief Patriarch Charles F. Wetherell. After the formal work attendant upon the visitation the guests were taken to Casimi's restaurant, where supper was served at three tables, decorated with vases of flowers.

The visiting grand officers were Grand Patriarch Austin Poole, Grand Representatives Ralph Mayor and Walter H. McKay, Grand High Priest Kirkland H. Wilson, Grand Senior Warden Henry Arnold, Grand Junior Warden William Fish, Grand Sentry William H. Dobson, Deputy Grand Sentinel Gustavus Stimpson and Grand Marshal Walter Tweedill.

The committee in charge of the entertainment included Messrs. Donald F. Speers, Eben Raynor, Lincoln Hammett, William H. Sisson and Samuel N. Millington.

LIME KILN KLUB EXPIRES.

Spirit So Broken Down That There is No Further Reason for Existence.

The Lime Kiln Klub, after more than 45 years of existence, has expired. A joke at first, the club took serious being, with a membership limited in numbers, and for years enjoyed a healthy life with a waiting list. Fun and good fellowship was the key-note from the beginning, but as the years have passed and some of the members have become more settled in their ways, and can no longer see so much fun in joking, the spirit of the club has been broken down and so there has been no further reason for existence. Friday evening a little private auction was held among the members, at which those present bid in what they desired from the effects. The clubhouse, being on private property and located by sufferance, reverts to the owner of the land and may become a henhouse, despite the comfort it once boasted and the good times which have been had there.

CLUBROOM FOR MEMBERS.

The Newport Art Association, to Continue Series of Lectures.

At a meeting of the Newport Art Association Friday afternoon, which was attended by about 70 members, a plan outlined by the executive committee and presented by Miss Waring, chairman of the house committee, and Mrs. Elliott, secretary of the Association, intended to make the rooms more attractive to members, was adopted. The proposition is to have one room at least open daily, provided with writing desk and materials, art books and magazines; in fact, to make a clubroom, for members, where they and their friends may meet, read and discuss various matters of art. The meeting was enthusiastically in favor of the change, which will be put into effect as soon as possible. After the meeting tea and sandwiches were served. Miss Maude K. Wetmore pouring.

It has been decided to continue the series of lectures inaugurated by Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott two weeks ago. Mr. Elijah Baxter will speak October 25 on some subject relating to art, Mr. Norman M. Isham, a well known architect of Providence, November 4 on "Colonial Architecture," and November 9 Miss Waring on "Early Italian Masters." The last two of these will be illustrated, and it is proposed to make them as informal as possible, with an opportunity for members to participate in a discussion.

The Association's art classes will open next week.

CHILD NAMED GEORGE.

Younger Son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt Christened Today.

The christening of the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt, who was born at "Oakland Farm" September 13, took place this afternoon in St. Mary's Church, Portsmouth, Rev. F. W. Goodman, the rector, officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by a number of relatives who have come from away or are residing in Newport and by personal friends of Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt. Captain Isaac E. Emerson, the boy's maternal grandfather, and Mr. W. F. Whitehouse were godfathers and Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt, his aunt, godmother. The child was named George, after his father's uncle, the late George W. Vanderbilt, who died March 8 last.

Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt will leave Monday for their camp in the Adirondacks, where they will remain indefinitely.

RAISED "RUCTIONS" ON THE NEW YORK BOAT.

The New York boat this morning supplied the fare for the police station session, mainly because the three prisoners had no fare. In addition, they raised "ructions" on board and used language which called for summary action. They were locked up on the boat and turned over to the police when the dock here was reached. They should have been taken to Fall River, for they were bound to Massachusetts, but from here they went to Cranston. Two of the men are reported to have come from the naval station at Norfolk, where they were rejected as undesirable. This seems to have been a wise decision on the part of the naval officials.

UMBRELLA FOR OFFICER COGGESHALL.

Mr. William G. Landers has notified Officer Coggeshall that he has a large blue umbrella for his fixed post station when it is completed and ready to go into commission. It is progressing at a satisfactory rate, except that Officer Coggeshall does not yet see where the rail is to come from. The umbrella he will save until next summer, and use it for a sun umbrella.

That a fixed man at this point is really needed was shown Friday afternoon, when two machines on Thames street came to a halt on call and a young woman in a runabout shot across Thames street because of the slippery pavement. It was a narrow escape.

FEATURES OF NEW BILL.

Vaudeville Acts and "A Woman's Triumph" in Four Reels.

At the Opera House Monday will bring the usual change of show. The feature of the new bill will be the Pia Opera Trio in vocal selections. Two women and a man comprise the act—Rosalie Muthall, soprano; Edith Ford, tenor, and Serafin Pia, baritone. Another act is Frank Mitchell's sketch, "The Passenger Wreck," a fine example of stage craft while the plot is novel, with five people. Earl and Bartlett in "The Man from Dublin" introduce a specialty of Irish songs and sayings to bring a laugh. Marion Kay, a jolly commedienne, will "put over" a number entirely new, with jokes and monologue, for 15 minutes or more.

These acts of vaudeville are followed by the Famous Players' late release, "A Woman's Triumph," presented by Daniel Frohman in four reels of picturesque background, produced by actors and actresses capable of handling the plot in excellent manner. The fourth episode of "Lucille Love" shows Lucille forced out of her hut by the invasion of poisonous snakes, placed there by Luberque. She escapes through the desert and is hounded by lions.

Ferryboat J. A. Saunders was off the line several hours Friday, to have work done to the steering gear. The Narragansett, which had come around the island the day before to lay up, made the trips to Saundarstown and Fort Greble while the Saunders was off.

With two tickets in the field for next month's election, the politicians are busy putting their fences in order and a close contest is looked for.

One of the large Erie cargo-carrying tugs with a light barge is anchored in the west bay for a harbor.

The garrison at Fort Greble is preparing for target practice with the machine guns and several rafts representing landing parties, with dummy figures, have been built.

TWO INCHES OF RAIN.

Parched Earth Takes it All In—Longest Drought in Ninety-Nine Years.

Up to 6 this morning two inches of rain had fallen in 24 hours and the fall had been so gradual that the parched earth had taken it all in.

Some places say this has been the longest drought in 99 years. Things have certainly been dry out on the island, yet one farmer reported this morning that his cistern, dry Thursday, was full this morning. Had it not been for the Water Works Company allowing water to run into the brook the farmers would have been much worse off than they were. There was abundance of water in the ponds, so that the company could allow water to flow, and this it has done for the past two months.

The rain has caused a general dropping of leaves, and in places the walking is bad in consequence.

Outdoor work has ceased since the rain came.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Commodore James's steam yacht Aloha has returned from New York.

—Mrs. E. B. Mansfield has returned from a two weeks' visit to New York and Long Island.

—Mr. Lawrence M. Greason of Middletown is still picking raspberries, but the season is about over.

—Miss Hillhouse, Miss Kane, and Miss Donaldson of Jamestown went to New York this morning.

—The late William F. Spingler left two sons, one of whom, Mr. Henry Spingler, resides in Newport.

—Mrs. J. C. Mellen of West Springfield, Mass., is spending the week-end with her daughter, Miss Ruth I. Woodruff.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Weaver have returned to Oakland Beach in their automobilite, after visiting Mrs. Weaver's friends in Newport.

—The committee on new police station had a meeting this morning with Architect Stevens at the station. No work was going on, as the rain was falling, but they saw how things had been going.

—Chief Kirwin, who left Thursday night for New Orleans, via Boston, it is understood will join a party which has been made up to be shown the sights at the fire chiefs' convention. It is now Acting Chief Lawton.

—The Park Commission made a tour of the parks Thursday to see what is to be done to put them in condition for the winter. It was the last chance before the rain and the commissioners had a fine day for the trip.

—Admiral and Mrs. French E. Chadwick have just observed their fiftieth marriage anniversary. Their visit in Providence this week, where they were much entertained, was in some measure a celebration of the event.

—The work at the Adams Express building at the depot was not finished when the rain came, but was far enough along to show that more engineering is necessary before that slough of despond is a thing of the past. It is still there.

—Owing to the storm it has been decided to hold the Democratic rally this evening in Realty hall, instead of having an open-air meeting on Washington square. In addition to Congressman George F. O'Shaunessy the speakers will include Colonel P. H. Quinn, Sumner Mowry and Irving O. Hunt, candidates respectively for governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general.

—Rear Admiral French E. Chadwick will speak at the celebration of the centenary of Commodore Macdonough's victory on Lake Champlain, which will be held at Middletown, Conn., next Tuesday, under the auspices of the Middlesex County Historical Society. Mr. Rodney Macdonough of Boston, a grandson of the commodore, will read a biographical paper on this occasion.

CAUSES ABSENTEEISM.

Congress Now Realizes Its Mistake in Enlarging Membership of House.

Law of Self Preservation Would Prevent Representatives From Decreasing the Size.

[Washington correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The Sixty-third Congress has demonstrated that it was a great mistake to increase the membership. The House was too large when it consisted of 391 members, and the increase to 435 members has simply added to the confusion, caused delay, made it more difficult to obtain a quorum, reduced the efficiency of individual members and increased the control of the leaders who are chairmen of important committees. It is difficult to see how the mistake can ever be corrected.

If the House should decide to reduce the membership to 300 it would make a good working legislative body, but it would mean throwing out of jobs 135 members. As the 135 could not be selected and nearly every man would fear that he would be a victim the natural law of self preservation will induce them to vote against any reduction.

A comparatively few conduct the business of the House. The others do not want to remain simply to be counted as a quorum and be compelled to listen to trifling discussions or long winded speeches solely for home consumption. It requires 218 members to make a quorum. Much of the time less than a quarter of that number are in the House. Most members realize that a great mistake was made in enlarging the membership of the House to its present proportions.

A member of Congress from one of the Western states wants a committee of the House to investigate why it is that wheat sells for 20 cents more per bushel at the big grain centres than it does at the elevators when farmers deliver it for market. It is shown that the distance between the elevator and the big market cannot cost 20 cents a bushel for transportation.

It is the same old question that has been agitating the country for many years, the rake-off of the middlemen who handle products between the producer and the consumer. Much of the high cost of living is explained by the profits of the various persons who handle the products of the farm before they reach the home of the consumer. It is not likely that Congress will make any investigation as to the differences in the price of wheat or farm products, for it is plain to every person that middlemen get the difference.

It is understood that Postmaster General Burleson does not look with favor upon the assembling of postmasters and other postal officials at different points for the purposes of holding conventions and discussing postal matters. Postmaster General Burleson looks upon these meetings, which are always held at the expense of the government, as more in the line of junkets and for the purpose of having vacations or a good time than anything else, and he regards that the good accomplished does not warrant the expense.

The independence of Senator Hitchcock and the difference which he has had with the present administration have often been traced to Nebraska politics. Senator Hitchcock and Secretary of State Bryan have not been in accord for a number of years. There were radial differences between them at the Baltimore convention and even before. Some people attribute Hitchcock's antagonism to certain Presidential policies to this condition in Nebraska politics.

The present Congress has not shown much disposition toward erecting statues. Even the two bills which were coupled together providing for statues to Hamilton and Jefferson have not received the assent of the House, and it may be that the proposition for a tardy recognition of Nathan Hale, the Revolutionary patriot, will not receive attention. It has been proposed to appropriate $100,000 for a monument to him to be erected in the city of Washington.

During the discussion of the parcel post there was an interesting exchange between Senator Bankhead of Alabama and Senator Martine of New Jersey, at one point of which Martine exclaimed:

"Great heavens! I believe we are big enough and broad enough and bright and intelligent enough to carry on the rural delivery and the parcel post."

"Yes," replied Bankhead; "we can do anything."

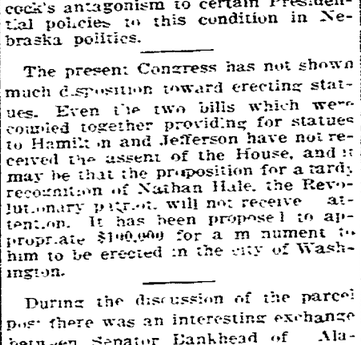

"Well," remarked Martine, "we can prosperously nearly. With a Democratic majority there is no limit to our hopes and possibilities."

—The Newport Naval Aid Society has been chartered at the office of Secretary of State Parker. The articles of association state that the society is for the purpose of promoting the welfare of the enlisted men connected with the navy and their families. The incorporators are Roger Welles, Franck T. Evans, Joe R. Morrison, B. Schumacher and G. Segnel.

—The weekly meeting of the Tuxedo Club, Friday evening, had a good attendance. Pinochle was played early in the evening, the prizes being awarded to Mrs. Amey, Mrs. Smith and Messrs. Edward Wilson and Charles Gunther, Jr. Following the card playing there was general dancing and a hesitation waltz competition, in which the cup was awarded to Mrs. Alvah Weaver and Mr. Charles F. Holmes.

—Captain Samuel F. Dallam, who has been quartermaster at Fort Adams for the past two years, will be detached from detail to the quartermaster's corps November 1 and is assigned to the Ninth cavalry, located at Douglas, Ariz., to take effect November 22. He has been given two months' leave of absence upon his relief from detail in the quartermaster's department.

—The proceeds for the Belgian refugee fund were increased considerably Friday evening, when the second performance of "His Little Kingdom" was given at the Channing parlors, with a good attendance despite the bad weather. Miss Yardley, whose plan it was to hold the play, is responsible for both the artistic and the financial success of the affair.

—Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt came from New York Friday evening to see his daughter, Miss Grace Vanderbilt, who is ill with pneumonia at "Beaulieu." Miss Vanderbilt, who returned from Europe and came with her mother to Newport, has been ill only a short time. Although she is slightly improved, she still has a high temperature. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., was taken ill on the voyage from Europe, but has entirely recovered.

—Two members of Aquidneck Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, of this city, were honored by election to important offices in the Grand Chapter of Rhode Island at its meeting in Providence this week. Mrs H. K. Durfee, formerly matron of Aquidneck Chapter, was chosen grand matron, the head of the state body, and Mrs. Frank P. King, also a past matron of the local Chapter, was elected grand marshal.

CAUSES ABSENTEEISM.

Congress Now Realizes Its Mistake In Enlarging Membership of House.

Law of Self Preservation Would Prevent Representatives From Decreasing the Size.

[Washington correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The Sixty-third Congress has demonstrated that it was a great mistake to increase the membership. The House was too large when it consisted of 391 members, and the increase to 435 members has simply added to the confusion, caused delay, made it more difficult to obtain a quorum, reduced the efficiency of individual members and increased the control of the leaders who are chairmen of important committees. It is difficult to see how this mistake can ever be corrected.

If the House should decide to reduce the membership to 300 it would make a good working legislative body, but it would mean throwing out of jobs 135 members. As the 135 could not be selected and nearly every man would fear that he would be a victim the natural law of self preservation will induce them to vote against any reduction.

A comparatively few conduct the business of the House. The others do not want to remain simply to be counted as a quorum and be compelled to listen to trifling discussions or long winded speeches solely for home consumption. It requires 218 members to make a quorum. Much of the time less than a quarter of that number are in the House. Most members realize that a great mistake was made in enlarging the membership of the House to its present proportions.

A member of Congress from one of the Western states wants a committee of the House to investigate why it is that wheat sells for 20 cents more per bushel at the big grain centres than it does at the elevators when farmers deliver it for market. It is shown that the distance between the elevator and the big market cannot cost 20 cents a bushel for transportation.

It is the same old question that has been agitating the country for many years, the rake-off of the middlemen who handle products between the producer and the consumer. Much of the high cost of living is explained by the profits of the various persons who handle the products of the farm before they reach the home of the consumer. It is not likely that Congress will make any investigation as to the differences in the price of wheat or farm products, for it is plain to every person that middlemen get the difference.

It is understood that Postmaster General Burleson does not look with favor upon the assembling of postmasters and other postal officials at different points for the purposes of holding conventions and discussing postal matters. Postmaster General Burleson looks upon these meetings, which are always held at the expense of the government, as more in the line of junkets and for the purpose of having vacations or a good time than anything else, and he regards that the good accomplished does not warrant the expense.

The independence of Senator Hitchcock and the difference which he has had with the present administration have often been traced to Nebraska politics. Senator Hitchcock and Secretary of State Bryan have not been in accord for a number of years. There were radial differences between them at the Baltimore convention and even before. Some people attribute Hitchcock's antagonism to certain Presidential policies to this condition in Nebraska politics.

The present Congress has not shown much disposition toward erecting statues. Even the two bills which were coupled together providing for statues to Hamilton and Jefferson have not received the assent of the House, and it may be that the proposition for a tardy recognition of Nathan Hale, the Revolutionary patriot, will not receive attention. It has been proposed to appropriate $100,000 for a monument to him to be erected in the city of Washington.

During the discussion of the parcel post there was an interesting exchange between Senator Bankhead of Alabama and Senator Martine of New Jersey, at one point of which Martine exclaimed:

"Great heavens! I believe we are big enough and broad enough and bright and intelligent enough to carry on the rural delivery and the parcel post."

"Yes," replied Bankhead; "we can do anything."

"Well," remarked Martine, "we can pretty nearly, with a Democratic majority there is no limit to our hopes and possibilities."

GERMANS LEAVING OSTEND.

Troops at Maldeghem Cause Considerable Damage.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Flushing, Netherlands, sends the following regarding the movement of German troops in northwestern Belgium: "The German troops are leaving Ostend for the east. Approximately 5,000 are now lodged in the public buildings of Ostend. Two thousand have left Zeebrugge and there are no more between Peyst and Sluis. The Germans billeted at Bruges are behaving well, but those at Maldeghem have caused considerable damage."

DISSOLUTION DECREE AGAINST NEW HAVEN

Massachusetts, and Frank P. Carpenter of Manchester, N. H. The decree provides that they shall take over the stock of the Boston Railroad Holding Company, who owns a majority of the stock of the Boston & Maine Railroad, and shall sell the shares of the latter company at auction or by private contract not earlier than July 1, 1915, and shall use their best efforts to complete the sale before January 1, 1917.

The New Haven Company must, under the terms, transfer to these same trustees, to be sold during the same time limits, all shares of various small railroad lines in New England which are leased to the Boston & Maine Company.

The trustees named for the Connecticut trolley holdings are Walter C. Noyes of Old Lyme, Lyman B. Brainerd and W. W. Hyde of Hartford. Charles Cheney of South Manchester and George E. Hill of Bridgeport, all in Connecticut. These trolley holdings are held by the Connecticut company, the majority of whose stock is owned by the New England Navigation Company. This stock the Navigation Company is ordered to transfer to the trustees, who must complete its sale before July 1, 1919. It is provided in this case, however, that if before such sale is completed a re-organization of the Connecticut company shall be proposed, the exchange of securities in a new company necessary thereto is permitted, but these securities so exchanged shall be subject to the same provisions as the shares surrendered.

The trustees for the Rhode Island trolley holdings are Rathbone Gardner, John O. Ames, John P. Farnsworth, Theodore Francis Green and Charles C. Mumford, all of Providence. These holdings are controlled by the Providence & Danielson Railway Company, which in turn are owned respectively by the New England Navigation Company and the New York, New Haven & Hartford itself. As in the case of the Connecticut holdings, the trustees must complete their sale before July 1, 1919, and the same provision is made for the re-organization of the Rhode Island and Providence & Danielson companies.

Sale by the New Haven company of the Vermont company is also ordered, provided such sale is authorized by the commonwealth of Massachusetts. The court may also order the sale of these two properties on the application of any party after a hearing, at which the commonwealth of Massachusetts shall be invited to appear.

It is further provided that if the Berkshire Street railway company shall acquire the securities or properties of the New England Investment & Security Company then the stock and other stocks of the Berkshire company and the Vermont company owned by the New Haven company shall be vested in three trustees to be agreed upon by the Attorney General and the New Haven company, who shall sell the same upon the same terms as provided in the case of the other trolley companies.

Still another provision directs the New England Navigation Company to dispose of its 35,000 shares of stock in the Eastern Steamship Corporation and $2,500,000 of its bonds before July 1, 1917. Pending such sale the New Haven company and the Navigation Company are enjoined from voting the stock.

By another provision the New Haven company is directed to sell before July 1, 1919, its stock and bonds in the New York & Stafford Railway Company and in the Westchester Street Railroad Company, and the Navigation Company to sell before the same date its holdings in the Shore Line Electric Railroad Company and its notes of the New England Investment & Security Company, the latter to a par value of $13,709,000.

Assurance that the various properties from which the New Haven company is forced to divorce itself will not return into the control of the New Haven is revealed in a provision which says: "None of these shares or other securities hereinbefore ordered sold shall be offered to the stockholders of the New England Company as a class, either in proportion to their stockholdings or otherwise, or be sold to the New Haven company or to any person or persons, corporation or corporations, to be held in its interest, directly or indirectly, or so as to re-establish in any manner the combination and control which it is the purpose of this decree to terminate."

Pending a decision by the Interstate Commerce Commission upon the application of the New Haven Company under the Panama Canal act, for authority to retain stock and other securities of the New England Steamship Company and the Hartford & New York Transportation Company, the question of the disposition of these holdings is reserved by the court for further order. In the meantime, however, the New Haven company and the Navigation Company are enjoined from disposing of any of the property of the two steamship lines or from discontinuing their operation except as may be authorized by the court.

The decree also discloses that the New Haven company has cancelled its contract with the New York Central & Hudson River Company for sharing the financial results of the Boston & Maine railroad, and furthermore it has disposed, under terms approved by the Attorney General, of the Merchants & Miners Transportation Company. The renewal of this contract and the re-purchase of any interest in the Merchants & Miners company is perpetually enjoined.

Miss Yardley's Gratitude to Those Who Produced "His Little Kingdom."

To the Editor of the News:

Sir: May I have the privilege of expressing through your paper my sincere gratitude to my friends who have just produced "His Little Kingdom" with such signal success for the cause of the Belgian refugees? One cannot be satisfied when one has received such splendid help with anything short of public recognition. To each one of the cast this is due, but primarily to Mr. Frank Bennett, who having volunteered his services as his contribution to the cause, selected his play and his players and trained them to attain their present state of professional finish. His efforts for the suffering Belgians deserved far larger audiences than were obtained as the production on its merits alone, without the motive of the benefit, is worthy of a house packed to the doors.

FOR THE UNITED STATES.

Harry Payne Whitney Sends Thoroughbreds From English Racing Stable.

The first consignment of thoroughbreds from Mr. Harry Payne Whitney's English racing stable was shipped to the United States from his stables at Newmarket, England, today. Among the horses in this consignment are Harmonica and the pick of the yearlings of the stable.

This action of Mr. Whitney is due partly to the renewed interest in racing in the United States and partly to the ending of the season in England because of the war. It is expected that a number of American sportsmen who have stables in England will follow the example of Mr. Whitney.

TO REMOVE THE CITY CRUSHER.

The committee on the removal of the city crusher Friday evening organized by the election of Alderman Kelly as chairman. It was decided to ask for bids for the removal of the crusher proper to the City Wharf and for the removal of the structures on the land. The property has been leased by Mr. James J. Duggan and of course the city property must be removed, especially as it stands on top of the ledges which Mr. Duggan proposes to use. There is a feeling that perhaps eventually the city will wish to use the quarry on the Bruggs Avenue recreation field, and if so the present crusher will be available.

A WORLD'S SERIES CROWD.

People like to go where the crowd goes, and if there is anything which will attract an American crowd it is base ball. Hence it is not surprising that the other day the megaphone man was able to pick up with his camera a snap view of a few who were listening to the ball game story at the Daily News. Only a part of Cotton's court is shown and practically none of Thames street, so people who were there will realize that many who listened are not in the picture.

MANY GIFTS IN SILVER.

Former Congressman and Mrs. Sheffield Celebrate Twenty-Fifth Anniversary.

Former Congressman and Mrs. William Paine Sheffield celebrated the twenty fifth anniversary of their marriage with a largely attended reception Friday evening at their residence on Mantonomi avenue. The house has recently been re-modelled and re-decorated, so that the event was also in the nature of a house-warming. The various rooms on the lower floor were decorated with palms, and flowers sent by friends in this and other cities, in honor of the occasion. The piazzas were enclosed by Landers with water-proof material covered with red, and lighted with numerous Japanese lanterns, serving as a large retiring room, in which many sat while the collation was served and a portion of which the men used as a smoking room.

Colonel and Mrs. Sheffield received alone in the reception room, the guests being presented by their younger son, Mr. Sanford Sheffield, and Messrs. William MacLeod and Roderick MacLeod. The guests included many prominent in professional, business political and social life in Newport and Middletown, and there was a delightful informality about the affair which made the evening enjoyable to all. A buffet collation was served by Lederer, and during the evening Mr. Frank S. Hale furnished a continuous program of music on the Victrola.

Colonel and Mrs. Sheffield had with them their entire family except their elder son, Mr. William P. Sheffield, Jr., a member of the Senior class in Brown University, who was detained in Providence by his college duties. The younger Mr. Sheffield is president of the Cummarian Club and of the college Young Men's Christian Association, an officer of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity and one of the most popular members of his class.

Colonel and Mrs. Sheffield received in addition to many flowers a number of handsome gifts in silver, in honor of the anniversary.

BEECKMAN CHALLENGED.

Colonel Quinn Wants Opponent to Give Cost of Campaign for Governor.

A challenge to Senator R. Livingston Beeckman, Republican candidate for governor, to make known before the election the amount of money which he is spending in the effort to secure his election as governor, was issued Friday by his Democratic opponent, Colonel P. H. Quinn, at a rally at the Gorham Manufacturing Company. Colonel Quinn declared that he would make such a statement, and that he would submit himself to any questions which the Republican candidate might ask with regard to his expenditures provided Mr. Beeckman would afford him the same privilege.

"I do not mean by this simply the money which he may spent personally," said the Democratic candidate, "but I also mean the money which will be spent for him by "Billy" Bowen, and the money which was spent in an effort to disrupt the Progressive party in this state."

Colonel Quinn declared that his Republican opponent is in the hands of a reckless set of men who secured control of the Republican organization by the use of Senator Beekman's money. He referred to what he called the indiscriminate purchasing of loving cups and other trophies by his opponent for various organizations throughout the state, characterizing it as nothing short of an attempt to influence voters."

IT WAS THE CAT.

One of the Chief Factors in the Disagreement Between Parties.

Mr. Weaver Denies That Money Which Miss Kaull Gave Him Was to Purchase a Lot.

The Kaull-Weaver case proceeded Friday afternoon in the superior court, before Judge Pathbun and the jury.

Plaintiff finished her testimony. She said she never told defendant he could do what he pleased with the money so long as she had a home. The Carley place on Cranston avenue was purchased without her knowledge or consent. Defendant said he could sell off part of the Champlin Street lot and, later, of the Kay Street lot; and he would give her what he received from such sale. She was struck dumb when he said he had spent $500 of the money for his mother. She said: "Let the lot slide." When she gave him the $500 she also gave him $5 more, as he told her he could build the house quicker if he had more shares in the building association.

James Powell Cozzens, teller at the Newport Trust Company, took the stand. He had the record of Miss Kaull's account. It showed the withdrawal of $552.40 May 29, 1911.

James H. Doyle testified that he drove, in 1911, Miss Kaull, Mr. Weaver and Mrs. Weaver to Champlin street, to look at the lot. They spoke of how they would put the house on the lot. Several times witness drove them to look at the lot.

A. O'D. Taylor testified that he had dealings with Mr. Weaver about the lot on Champlin street. It was in the summer of 1911. The sale was not consummated. Early in December, 1912, he contracted to buy the Kay Street lot, and later bought it.

William E. Brightman testified that he met Miss Kaull and Mr. Weaver in regard to the purchase of a place. He also saw Mr. Weaver in regard to the Kay Street lot, a year before it was sold; was instructed to find out about the lot, price, etc.

Fred W. Greene testified that he had negotiations, in the fall of 1912, in regard to the purchase of a place. Showed Mr. Weaver the Angell house. Later met all there. Mr. Weaver wished to buy it, but Miss Kaull objected. She said she preferred a new house.

Harry G. Wilks, of the Savings Bank of Newport, produced the accounts of Miss Kaull and Mr. Weaver. They showed the transfer from her to him of $1,200 and an additional deposit to his credit of $800. Later she withdrew $300.

Packer Braman testified that the three parties called at 10 Record street and examined that house. They all seemed interested.

Mr. Harvey read the deposition of Sophora W. Bass of Providence. She deposed that she called on the Weavers, who said Miss Kaull was to live with them, eventually. Later she talked with Mr. Weaver, who spoke of somebody getting rid of a dog; she said "Hattie" would not get rid of her cat. He said if the cat went on his bed he would throw it out.

Mr. Harvey offered the copy of the deed of John C. Gray and wife to Thomas L. S. Weaver, dated January 5, 1911, of the lot on Kay Street. Mr. Levy said they admitted that they bought it. Also, the mortgage of Weaver, of the same date, to the Island Savings Bank, for $1,500, of the lot. Also, deed of Weaver to Hazard, dated September 15, 1913, of part of this lot (50 by 100 feet).

Here plaintiff rested.

The jury being absent, Mr. Levy moved a non-suit, at least as to several counts of the declaration. Fraud is alleged. Mr. Levy claimed it had not been shown. It is claimed that a house was to be built. "He never did," said the court. Mr. Levy claimed that perhaps a promise was attempted had been made, but not as to fraud. The court held that there was some evidence to go to the jury as to fraud, but defendant's counsel was at liberty to submit without prejudice to his motion.

Mr. Levy said, in opening, to the jury, that every story has two sides. There was a contest over Hannah Sophia Weaver and Miss Kaull were interested and Mrs. Weaver gave up certain rights, upon a promise from Miss Kaull, who put in $2,000 toward a joint home and was to contribute something towards the running expenses of the home. Mrs. Weaver had to vacate the house she occupied and the Cranston Avenue house was purchased. Miss Kaull expressing satisfaction with it. Miss Kaull's cat has enjoyed certain privileges and comforts in the Stacy house, and Miss Kaull's anger, Mr. Levy claimed, was because of the abridgement of these liberties of the cat, proposed in the Cranston Avenue house, and thereupon began legal proceedings. Mr. Levy claimed that all agreements have been carried out, and a home is waiting plaintiff if she chooses to accept it.

Thomas L. S. Weaver, defendant, took the stand. The "S" in his name is for Sheffield. He said Miss Kaull suggested that she would like to live with them. He was 10 years in New York, and his mother was alone. Miss Kaull said she was not pleasantly situated and desired another home. This was before Miss Stacy died, and Miss Kaull said that if Miss Stacy left her a good amount she would give defendant some to make a home for his widowed mother, in which she (Miss Kaull) might also live. This was said several times. Miss Kaull always poured out her troubles and her desire to live with them.

May 29, 1911, defendant was draughtsman for the Gorham Company, and was at his post in Providence. He did not hand his bank book to Miss Kaull to deposit the $2,000. He first knew of the deposit the Sunday following, and thanked her for her present. After this they examined sites and houses. Nothing was said about the $2,000 being used to buy a lot. She was to come to live with them; she said she would pay the same towards running expenses that she was paying at Mr. Stacy's, which was enough practically to support Mr. Stacy and his daughter.

Defendant denied that he inspected the Champlin Street lot with Miss Kaull or his mother. He went to only one or two houses, being in Providence. Miss Kaull said the Cranston Avenue house was very nice, but she did not like the neighborhood. She selected the pink room and desired the sewing room for her cat. Defendant must buy a screen door for the room, for ventilation; a spring Yale lock, with flat key, must be put on the door, and a storm sash on the window, to keep the draught off the cat. Lobster, roast 1-mb, etc., must also be fed to the cat. (Miss Kaull could not suppress her laughter at this testimony.)

They put the parlor carpet on Miss Kaull's room and she said it was very pretty, but she guessed she wouldn't come until cooler weather, when she could deprive the cat of some of its privileges without the cat noticing it so much. Up Bowery street, the cat was acquainted with the aristocracy; she would not want her cat to associate with "Irishy" cats around Cranston avenue. She said she would come in the fall. In the fall she said she would wait until freezing weather, when the cat would not notice being in confinement. After being shut up through the winter, it might be let out with less danger of being lost.

On Miss Kaull's last visit they suggested that she go with them to an entertainment. She said: "Oh no; I've got to go home to get the cat's supper." She said she wanted to see the cellar, and said it would be a fine place for the cat. She found a few bricks out, and he agreed to have them put in. He said he would arrange a sun parlor for the cat. She said: "Now you must be good to the cat; if he should get up on the bed you must not put him off, because he is used to being on the bed." He said he would try to be good to the cat, but didn't want him on the bed. Miss Kaull was angry at this. She tried to conceal it—to smile out of one corner of her mouth.

Soon after she came and said she wanted her goods. She said she would return, and asked many times if they would let her in. She was

CAST OF CHARACTERS.

Story of "A Masquerade Party" the Coming Musical Extravaganza.

Some important additions have just been made to the cast of characters for the musical comedy, "A Masquerade Party," which is to be given October 26, 27 and 28 as a benefit for the Trinity Church mission and guild house. The cast of characters as finally arranged is given as follows:

John Webber, Sr., Joseph S. Milne.
John Webber, Jr., Henry C. Wilkinson.
Mother Webber, Louise C. Heard.
Susie Webber, Ethel Plummer.
Aunt Mathilda, Margarita Higbee.
Parson Smyth, Fred P. Webber.
Grace Loveland, Mabel A. Simpson.
Billy O'Donnell, Horman A. Lawson.
Chaperone (Mrs. Lovell), Mrs. Frank W. Hay.
Professor Bidwell, Lewis B. Plummer.
Bridget, the cook, Rowena MacLellan.
Jimmy, the barn constable, David J. Dugan.
Rough Rider, Raymond Friend.
Senora, Mary Leonard.
Uncle Sam, William T. Luth.
Columbia,

The part of Father Webber is that of a retired business man who has settled into a quiet routine with Mother Webber, while the children are at school. At the masquerade party he is induced to wear a Japanese costume just like the parson's masquerade, and when he mistakes the chaperone en costume for Mother Webber, and embraces her, the real Mother Webber becomes jealous. Of course the chaperone had been told by the young people that her beloved parson would wear a Japanese costume, and when she reciprocates Papa Webber's affection that stirs up all parties. Miss Louise Heard who is to be the Mother Webber, is enthusiastic over her part, and Mr. Fred P. Webber as the parson is said to be especially adapted to the character.

Tickets will soon be placed in the hands of all members of the cast, and the producers of this musical extravaganza are confident that the Colonial Theatre will be jammed each of the three nights of the performance.

In the district court Friday afternoon the trial of the case against liquors and vessels of Isaac T. Smith of Middletown was finished and the case continued to next Tuesday, when a decision will be given.

Harry Payne Whitney Sends Thoroughbreds From English Racing Stable.

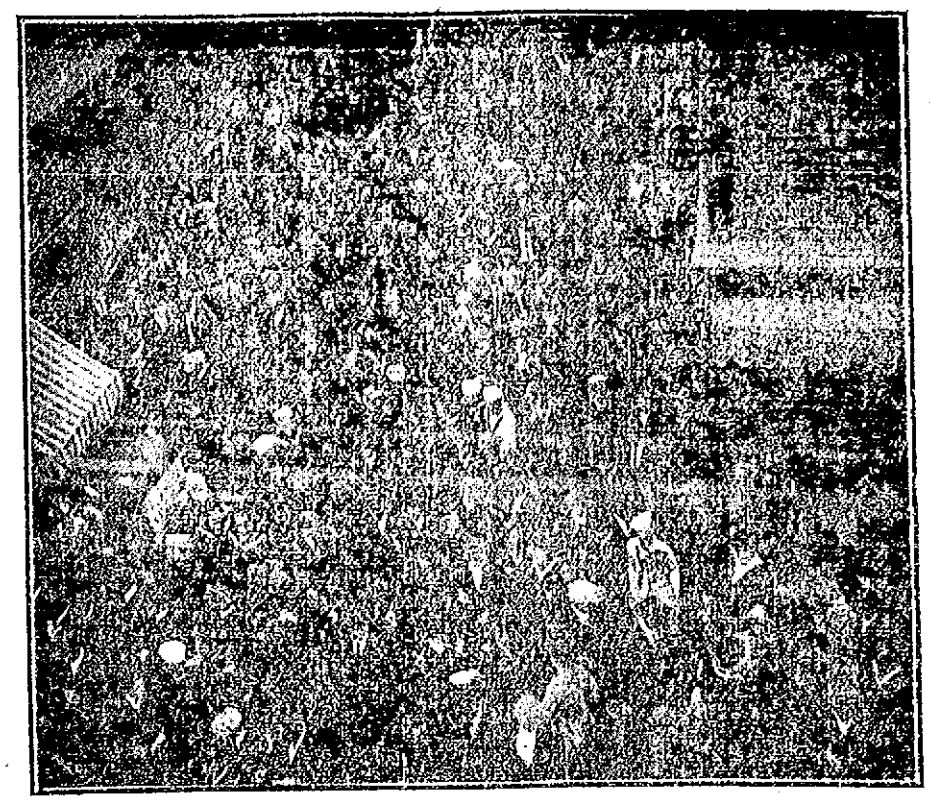

The first consignment of thoroughbreds from Mr. Harry Payne Whitney's English racing stable was shipped to the United States from his stables at Newmarket, England, today. Among the horses in this consignment are Harmonica and the pick of the yearlings of the stable.

This action of Mr. Whitney is due partly to the renewed interest in racing in the United States and partly to the ending of the season in England because of the war. It is expected that a number of American sportsmen who have stables in England will follow the example of Mr. Whitney.

TO REMOVE THE CITY CRUSHER.

The committee on the removal of the city crusher Friday evening organized by the election of Alderman Kelly as chairman. It was decided to ask for bids for the removal of the crusher proper to the City wharf and for the removal of the structures on the land. The property has been leased by Mr. James J. Dugan and of course the city properly must be removed, especially as it stands on top of the ledges which Mr. Dugan proposes to use. There is a feeling that perhaps eventually the city will wish to use the quarry on the Ruggles Avenue recreation field, and if so the present crusher will be available.

A WORLD'S SERIES CROWD.

People like to go where the crowd goes, and if there is anything which will attract an American crowd it is base ball. Hence it is not surprising that the other day the megaphone man was able to pick up with his camera a snap view of a few who were listening to the ball game story at the Daily News. Only a part of Cotton's court is shown and practically none of Thames street, so people who were there will realize that many who listened are not in the picture.

MANY GIFTS IN SILVER.

Former Congressman and Mrs. Sheffield Celebrate Twenty-Fifth Anniversary.

Former Congressman and Mrs. William Payne Sheffield celebrated the twenty fifth anniversary of their marriage with a largely attended reception Friday evening at their residence on Miantonomi avenue. The house has recently been re-modelled and re-decorated, so that the event was also in the nature of a house-warming. The various rooms on the lower floor were decorated with palms, and flowers sent by friends in this and other cities, in honor of the occasion. The piazzas were enclosed by Landers with water-proof material covered with red, and lighted with numerous Japanese lanterns, serving as a large retiring room, in which many sat while the collation was served and a portion of which the men used as a smoking room.

Colonel and Mrs. Sheffield received alone in the reception room, the guests being presented by their younger son, Mr. Sanford Sheffield, and Messrs. William MacLeod and Roderick MacLeod. The guests included many prominent in professional, business political and social life in Newport and Middletown, and there was a delightful informality about the affair which made the evening enjoyable to all. A buffet collation was served by Lederer, and during the evening Mr. Frank S. Hale furnished a continuous program of music on the Victrola.

Colonel and Mrs. Sheffield had with them their entire family except their elder son, Mr. William P. Sheffield, Jr., a member of the Senior class in Brown University, who was detained in Providence by his college duties. The younger Mr. Sheffield is president of the Cammarian Club and of the college Young Men's Christian Association, an officer of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity and one of the most popular members of his class.

Colonel and Mrs. Sheffield received in addition to many flowers a number of handsome gifts in silver, in honor of the anniversary.

BEECKMAN CHALLENGED.

Colonel Quinn Wants Opponent to Give Cost of Campaign for Governor.

A challenge to Senator R. Livingston Beeckman, Republican candidate for governor, to make known before the election the amount of money which he is spending in the effort to secure his election as governor, was issued Friday by his Democratic opponent, Colonel P. H. Quinn, at a rally at the Gorham Manufacturing Company. Colonel Quinn declared that he would make such a statement, and that he would submit himself to any questions which the Republican candidate might ask with regard to his expenditures, provided Mr. Beeckman would afford him the same privilege.

"I do not mean by this simply the money which he may spend personally," said the Democratic candidate, "but I also mean the money which will be spent for him by "Billy" Bowen, and the money which was spent in an effort to disrupt the Progressive party in this state."

Colonel Quinn declared that his Republican opponent is in the hands of a reckless set of men who secured control of the Republican organization by the use of Senator Beeckman's money. He referred to what he called "the indiscriminate purchasing of loving cups and other trophies" by his opponent for various organizations throughout the state, characterizing it as "nothing short of an attempt to influence voters."

DARK BARNEY STREET.

To the Editor of the News:

Will you kindly allow me to ask, through your paper, the city authorities to light dark Barney street? Coming down there a few evenings ago, I ran against an iron post about four feet high, hurting myself considerably as I came against it with much force. I only knew what the obstacle was by handling, as I could not see it in the darkness.

IT WAS THE CAT.

One of the Chief Factors in the Disagreement Between Parties.

Mr. Weaver Denies That Money Which Miss Kaull Gave Him Was to Purchase a Lot.

The Kaull-Weaver case proceeded Friday afternoon in the superior court, before Judge Brilliam and the jury.

Plaintiff finished her testimony. She said she never told defendant he could do what he pleased with the money so long as she had a home. The Carley place on Cranston avenue was purchased without her knowledge or consent. Defendant said he could sell off part of the Champlin Street lot and, later, of the Kay Street lot; and he would give her what he received from such sale. She was struck dumb when he said he had spent $500 of the money for his mother. She said: "Let the lot slide." When she gave him the $500 she also gave him $5 more, as he told her he could build the house quicker if he had more shares in the building association.

James Powell Cozzens, teller at the Newport Trust Company, took the stand. He had the record of Miss Kaull's account. It showed the withdrawal of $852.40 May 29, 1911.

James H. Boyle testified that he drove, in 1911, Miss Kaull, Mr. Weaver and Mrs. Weaver to Champlin street, to look at the lot. They spoke of how they would put the house on the lot. Several times witness drove them to look at the lot.

A. O'D. Taylor testified that he had dealings with Mr. Weaver about the lot on Champlin street. It was in the summer of 1911. The sale was not consummated. Early in December, 1912, he contracted to buy the Kay Street lot, and later bought it.

William E. Brightman testified that he met Miss Kaull and Mr. Weaver in regard to the purchase of a place. He also saw Mr. Weaver in regard to the Kay Street lot, a year before it was sold; was instructed to find out about the lot, price, etc.

Fred W. Greene testified that he had negotiations, in the fall of 1912, in regard to the purchase of a place. Showed Mr. Weaver the Angell house. Later met all there. Mr. Weaver wished to buy it, but Miss Kaull objected. She said she preferred a new house.

Harry G. Wilks, of the Savings Bank of Newport, produced the accounts of Miss Kaull and Mr. Weaver. They showed the transfer from her to him of $1,200 and an additional deposit to his credit of $800. Later she withdrew $300.

Packer Braman testified that the three parties called at 10 Record street and examined that house. They all seemed interested.

Mr. Harvey read the deposition of Seymour W. Bliss of Providence. She deposed that she called on the Weavers, who said Miss Kaull was to live with them, eventually. Later she talked with Mr. Weaver, who spoke of somebody getting rid of a dog; she said "Hattie" would not get rid of her cat. He said if the cat went on his bed he would throw it out.

Mr. Harvey offered the copy of the deed of John C. Gray and wife to Thomas L. S. Weaver, dated January 6, 1913, of the lot on Kay Street. Mr. Levy said they admitted that they bought it. Also, the mortgage of Weaver, of the same date, to the Island Savings Bank, for $1,500, of this lot. Also, a deed of Weaver to Hazard, dated September 15, 1913, of part of this land (50 by 100 feet).

Here plaintiff rested.

The jury being absent, Mr. Levy moved a non-suit, at least as to several counts of the declaration. Fraud is alleged: Mr. Levy claimed it had not been shown. It is claimed that a house was to be built. "He never did it, did he?" said the court. Mr. Levy thought that perhaps a prima facie case in assumpsit had been made out, but not as to fraud. The court thought there was some testimony to go to the jury as to fraud, that defendant's conduct was suspicious, that he acted without her knowledge, etc. Mr. Levy said there is no proof that defendant did not intend to keep the agreement when he made it. The court overruled the motion.

Mr. Levy said, in opening, to the jury, that every story has two sides. There was a contest over Hannah Sisson's will, Mrs. Weaver and Miss Kaull were interested and Mrs. Weaver gave up certain rights, upon a promise from Miss Kaull, who put in $2000 towards a joint home and was to contribute something towards the running expenses of the home. Mrs. Weaver had to vacate the house she occupied and the Cranston Avenue house was purchased, Miss Kaull expressing satisfaction with it. Miss Kaull's cat has enjoyed certain privileges and comforts in the Stacy house, and Miss Kaull's anger, Mr. Levy claimed, was because of the abridgement of these liberties of the cat, proposed in the Cranston Avenue house, and thereupon began legal proceedings. Mr. Levy claimed that all agreements have been carried out, and a home is waiting plaintiff if she chooses to accept it.

Thomas L. S. Weaver, defendant, took the stand. The "S" in his name is for Sheffield. He said Miss Kaull suggested that she would like to live with them. He was 10 years in New York, and his mother was alone. Miss Kaull said she was not pleasantly situated and desired another home. This was before Miss Stacy died, and Miss Kaull said that if Miss Stacy left her a good amount she would give defendant some to make a home for his widowed mother, in which she (Miss Kaull) might also live. This was said several times. Miss Kaull always poured out her troubles and her desire to live with them.

May 29, 1911, defendant was draughtsman for the Gorham Company, and was at his post in Providence. He did not hand his bank book to Miss Kaull to deposit the $2,000. He first knew of the deposit the Sunday following, and thanked her for her present. After this they examined sites and houses. Nothing was said about the $2,000 being used to buy a lot. She was to come to live with them; she said she would pay the same towards running expenses that she was paying at Mr. Stacy's, which was enough practically to support Mr. Stacy and his daughter.

Defendant denied that he inspected the Champlin Street lot with Miss Kaull or his mother. He went to only one or two houses, being in Providence. Miss Kaull said the Cranston Avenue house was very nice, but she did not like the neighborhood. She selected the pink room and desired the sewing room for her cat. Defendant must buy a screen door for the room, for ventilation; a spring Yale lock, with flat key, must be put on the door, and a storm sash on the window, to keep the draught off the cat. Lobster, roast lamb, etc., must also be fed to the cat. (Miss Kaull could not suppress her laughter at this testimony.)

They put the parlor carpet on Miss Kaull's room and she said it was very pretty, but she guessed she wouldn't come until cooler weather, when she could deprive the cat of some of its privileges without the cat noticing it so much. Up Bowery street, the cat was acquainted with the aristocracy; she would not want her cat to associate with "Irishy" cats around Cranston avenue. She said she would come in the fall. In the fall she said she would wait until freezing weather, when the cat would not notice being in confinement. After being shut up through the winter, it might be let out with less danger of being lost.

On Miss Kaull's last visit they suggested that she go with them to an entertainment. She said: "Oh no; I've got to go home to get the cat's supper." She said she wanted to see the cellar, and said it would be a fine place for the cat. She found a few bricks out, and he agreed to have them put in. He said he would arrange a sun parlor for the cat. She said: "Now you must be good to the cat; if he should get up on the bed you must not put him off, because he is used to being on the bed." He said he would try to be good to the cat, but didn't want him on the bed. Miss Kaull was angry at this. She tried to conceal it—to smile out of one corner of her mouth.

Soon after she came and said she wanted her goods. She said she would return, and asked many times if they would let her in. She was

CAST OF CHARACTERS.

Story of "A Masquerade Party" the Coming Musical Extravaganza.

Some important additions have just been made to the cast of characters for the musical comedy, "A Masquerade Party," which is to be given October 26, 27 and 28 as a benefit for the Trinity Church mission and guild house. The cast of characters as finally arranged is given as follows:

John Webber, Sr., Joseph S. Milne.
John Webber, Jr., Henry C. Wilkinson.
Mother Webber, Louise C. Heard.
Susie Webber, Ethel Plummer.
Aunt Mathilda, Margarite Higbee.
Parson Smyth, Fred P. Webber.
Grace Loveland, Mabel A. Simpson.
Billy O'Donnell, Herman A. Lawson.
Chaperone (Mrs. Lovell), Mrs. Frank W. Hay.
Professor Bidwell, Lewis B. Plummer.
Bridget, the cook, Rowena MacLellan.
Jimmy, the barn constable, David J. Dugan.
Rough Rider, Raymond Friend.
Senora, Mary Leonard.
Uncle Sam, William T. Luth.
Columbia,

The part of Father Webber is that of a retired business man who has settled into a quiet routine with Mother Webber, while the children are at school. At the masquerade party he is induced to wear a Japanese costume just like the parson's masquerade, and when he mistakes the chaperone on costume for Mother Webber, and embraces her, the real Mother Webber becomes jealous. Of course the chaperone had been told by the young people that her beloved parson would wear a Japanese costume, and when she reciprocates Papa Webber's affection that stirs up all parties. Miss Louise Heard who is to be the Mother Webber, is enthusiastic over her part, and Mr. Fred P. Webber as the parson is said to be especially adapted to the character.

Tickets will soon be placed in the hands of all members of the cast, and the producers of this musical extravaganza are confident that the Colonial Theatre will be jammed each of the three nights of the performance.

In the district court Friday afternoon the trial of the case against liquors and vessels of Isaac T. Smith of Middletown was finished and the case continued to next Tuesday, when a decision will be given.
